Briefly

Graduations set

All three local high schools will hold their 1991 commencements this week. Venice High School will hold its graduation today (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. Madison High's graduation will start at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the gymnasium. Granite City High will hold its graduation at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the GCHS football field. In case of inclement weather, it will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the football field. If the weather remains bad Saturday, the graduation will be moved to the high school gym.

Pet owner advice

The Association for Protection of Animals is asking owners to put identification on their pets, spay or neuter them, and help them survive the summer heat. Today's forecast is 95 degrees. The APA urges: plenty of water and food daily; a 15-foot chain; and a dog house in a shady area. The APA adds, "Don't leave him in a hot parked car. We have 49 cats and 29 dogs looking for homes, at 5000 Old Alton Road, 931-7030."

Tip of the hat

David F. Maxwell of Granite City, a senior civil engineering major at Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology in Terre Haute, Ind., has been awarded the Shelton Hammig Award. The award is presented annually to the outstanding civil engineering senior. Maxwell was one of 39 students who were honored for academic excellence at Rose-Hulman's Honors and Awards Banquet. Rose-Hulman, a privately-funded engineering and science college founded in 1874, has an enrollment of 1,300 students.

Dioxin fallout: Will EPA rethink local plan?

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The announcement that the federal Environmental Protection Agency apparently had needlessly forced the 2,242 residents of Times Beach, Mo., to abandon their homes forever — based on invalid scientific data — didn't surprise Brett Hanke, Granite's public works director.

Hanke and Craig Tarpoff of Granite City were at the annual International Conference on Trace Substances in Environmental Health, held in Columbia, Mo., last week when the announcement of the Times Beach "mistake" was made.

At the invitation of the conference, they were there to present a professional paper on Granite City's own problems with the Environmental Protection Agency and its proposed Superfund cleanup of the Taracorp lead contamination here.

Area leaders say that cleanup, involving a 55-block area in Granite City, Madison and Venice and an estimated cost of $30 million, is not justified based on the information presented by the EPA.

At the conference, Dr. Vernon H. Houk, an assistant U.S. surgeon general and an official with the national Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, said the dangers of dioxin, the contaminant that forced the 1982 evacuation of Times Beach at the direction of the EPA, were "grossly overstated" and the evacuation should never have taken place.

Houk said medical information now indicates dioxin, which the EPA called the "world's most dangerous man-made substance," doesn't live up to its evil reputation.

He said there is no evidence exposure to dioxin causes cancer or any other life-threatening medical condition and the only disease it can be associated with is chloracne.

"Good news," Hanke said, "But it doesn't make Times Beach any less of a ghost town. I don't want the same thing to happen here."

But, Hanke said, he doubts Times Beach will make the EPA rethink its decision concerning the Taracorp site.

"You know the EPA, they're impervious to anything coming from outside their shell," Hanke said. "I don't think they even flinched."

Mary Ann LaFaire, the EPA's community relations coordinator for the Taracorp site, said Friday she had heard of Times Beach, but had not heard any recent developments concerning dioxin. She said the EPA is not rethinking its plans for Taracorp.

MEMORIAL DAY CEREMONIES: Area residents assembled Monday at the Quad-Cities War Memorial for Memorial Day Ceremonies.

The ceremonies were marked by veterans groups and their auxiliaries placing funeral wreaths at the Memorial in honor of those who gave their lives in service of their country. Guest speakers told of the ultimate sacrifice that the servicemen and women had given.

City ends year with surplus

$60,000 figure could drop

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — In spite of working with a deficit budget for the 1990-91 fiscal year, the city ended the year with a preliminary surplus of nearly $60,000.

The surplus figure is considered preliminary because several bills from FY '91 may still be outstanding, according to City Comptroller, K.P. MacTaggart.

The city's fiscal year runs from May 1 to April 30.

MacTaggart said more revenue was collected than expected, and fewer expenditures were made than had been budgeted.

The budget anticipated $11,598,337 in revenue and $12,076,347 in expenses, for an anticipated shortfall of $478,010.

But the city actually collected $11,937,105 in revenue ($338,768 more than budgeted) and only $11,877,859 was expended ($198,488 less than anticipated). Therefore, the city actually collected $59,246 more than budgeted.

MacTaggart attributed the differences to the following revenue factors:

Real estate taxes — budgeted receipts of $2,569,418, but actually collected $2,676,550.

State sales and use tax — budgeted $2,100,000, collected $2,197,873.

State income tax — budgeted $2,140,000, received $2,172,395.

Corporate replacement tax — budgeted $1.3 million, collected $1,210,335 ($89,465 less than anticipated).

Home rule sales tax — budgeted $1,109,900, received $1,270,386.

Amusement collections — budgeted $185,000, collected $241,343.

Grants — budgeted $527,971, received $297,624 ($230,347 less than anticipated). MacTaggart attributed the shortfall to the fact that the grant projects had not all been completed, and therefore had not yet been reimbursed.

Motor fuel tax reimbursement — budgeted $200,000, received $267,312.

Fines from the county — budgeted $140,000, received $181,390.

Interest earned — budgeted $127,969, earned $203,430.

Miscellaneous other items — among others.

Downtown interest spurs city action

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — New interest expressed by several businesses in locating in the downtown area required the City Council to take a number of actions May 21.

The council awarded a contract to demolish the former Washington Theater building on 18th Street, bought property at 2009-11 Grand Avenue from Magana Bank for $15,000 (using TIF funds), and requested competing proposals for use of the 2000 block of Madison Avenue and for use of 1837 Madison Ave.

The deadline for submitting proposals for each of the Madison Avenue locations is June 7.

Among those reportedly interested in locating new businesses or services in the downtown area are River City Marketing, the Madison County Transit District, a major chain of pharmaceutical retail stores, a local business man looking to expand operations, and several different fast-food and sit-down restaurants, according to members of the city's Downtown Committee.

Aldermen Jeff Worthen and Dan Partney and Economic Development Director Alan Grubbs returned Thursday from a five-day convention in Las Vegas where they met with representatives of Denny's Restaurants, Kentucky Fried Chicken, a big pharmaceutical retailer, Woolworth's (which has an established store downtown), Taco Bell and a steak house chain, among others.

Both Partney and Worthen characterized the convention as informative and said some "promising prospects" were contacted.

Partney said that if a drug store could be attracted to a target block bounded by Madison and Grand avenues, 21st and 20th Streets — and negotiations for this are currently under way — about 61,000 square feet of

Ervay's to mark quarter-century

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Most people, when contemplating where they were in 1966, find that they are now somewhere else — if they can remember where they were 25 years ago.

But Dick Ervay knows exactly where he was and what he was doing then.

At 44 years of age, he opened a new drive-in restaurant, called Dog 'n Suds in the 2200 block of Pontoon Road in the summer of 1966. He has operated a business there since that time.

While the building has gone through several renovations, and the restaurant is now leased out, Ervay is still in business at the same site.

The original Dog 'n Suds opened in June 1966, serving drive-up customers. The menu featured Coney dogs and root beer.

Car-hops carried customers' food to the car after orders were taken over a speaker that may have been the grandfather of current drive-through speaker systems.

A dining room was added to the building in 1973, and the restaurant became a 24-hour-a-day operation in the late 1970s, although Ervay and his son, Kerry, now a partner in the business, cannot agree on exactly when.

The building was totally remodeled in 1980 and became known as Ervay's Restaurant and Lounge.

Dick Ervay said the property was the "right field of the Namek's Little League" facility when he bought it from Tony Vesce in the 1960s.

Across the street, currently the site of Thomas Memorial Mortuary, was Maryland Market, a grocery store.

Ben Schermer's Ace Hardware Store was at the intersection of Pontoon and Johnson roads, next door to the proposed restaurant site. A Farm Fresh milk store now is at that corner location.

"When Dog 'n Suds opened, the police had to come out and write tickets because cars kept circling the area. It was like a hangout," Kerry Ervay said.

"Pay'n n Eat, a Burger Chef — most of the independent restaurants around at the time (we opened) have gone out of business or at least moved. As a matter of fact, there are not too many businesses in Granite City that have been around 25 years," Dick Ervay said.

Rain forest moves north; writer battles The Yard

THE YARD—They say the tropical rain forests are disappearing at an alarming rate. They say that every day, in places like Brazil and Ecuador, an area half the size of Rhode Island is defoliated.

They say it's a global catastrophe. The rain forest, they say, is the earth's lungs. The trees and vegetation there cleanse the atmosphere of the carbon dioxide produced in the rest of the world. The loss of the rain forest, they say, contributes to the global warming that spells our doom.

We believe it because the good people at the Missouri Botanical Garden say so. But here in The Yard, the problems of the vanishing rain forest seem like a cruel joke. For every tree that is knocked down in Brazil, it seems another one sprouts in The Yard. The rain forest has come north and here it is.

So bowled over are we by the grim irony of it all that we must knock off the yard work and lie in the hammock and drink another beer.

Down in Brazil, scores of dedicated botanists and ecologists are desperately trying to save the rain forest. And here in The Yard, the rain forest is regenerating itself, precisely where we wish it wouldn't. We drain the beer and go back to work.

The problem is the rainy spring we've had. The rain in the plains is mainly a pain. It has caused The Yard to bloom as never before. Tiny little oak trees bloom where the acorns fell last fall. You mow them down and they come right back.

The azaleas that unfortunately survived the winter frost have come back in full glory. We grab the shears and viciously cut them back. They yelp in pain and grow back before our eyes.

So stunned are we by the grim irony of it all that we are forced to grab another beer and seek refuge in the hammock.

From the hammock we can see the flower garden in the back. The big floppy white flowers, the tightly little yellow and pink flowers, the fuzzy little purple ones, the tall spiky green grass-like stuff. The woman in the house knows their names. We know them only as trouble.

"Don't mow my flowers," she says.

Easy for her to say. She doesn't have to stagger through The Yard with the mower. The bag fills with clippings every 20 feet, forcing us to stop and empty it. We should buy one of those mowers that chew up clippings but we just bought this one two years ago, when bagging clippings wasn't considered a mortal sin.

We are damned if we're going to buy a new lawn mower.

We were astonishingly stupid this spring, spreading high nitrogen fertilizer on the lawn. Now we are like Sisyphus, who was condemned by the gods to roll a boulder up a hill for all eternity, only to see it roll back each time he approached the top. Our boulder is the lawn mower, each time we finish mowing, it is time to start again.

So struck are we by Greek mythology and our own stupidity that we are forced to lie down in the hammock with another beer. We ponder what we read recently in a book called "Second Nature," by Michael Pollan. "America," he writes, has some 50,000 square miles of lawn under cultivation, on which we spend an estimated $30 billion a year.

We stretch out in the hammock with Pollan's book, which is thirsty reading. We pop another top and consider doing what a man in Buffalo, N.Y., did. He let his yard return to natural meadow, defying his neighbors. He erected a sign that said his was a "natural yard, growing the way God intended."

Way to go, Buffalo Man. Then we read that his neighbors brought suit against him and the judge ordered him to cut his grass. And, when the man defied the court order, the judge started fining him $50 a day. At last count, Pollan says, Buffalo Man had run up nearly $25,000 in fines and costs.

Forget it, we say, rolling out of the hammock to inspect our work in The Yard. Not bad, we think. Neat and trim. Lush and plush. We are overcome with pride. Maybe it's the pride of home ownership. Maybe it's the innate pride of a man who has tamed nature. Maybe it's the glowing satisfaction of a job well done.

Or maybe it's the beer.

Metro Link construction Light-rail construction to disrupt traffic

By Roger McGrath
Correspondent

Commuters to downtown St. Louis—whether they travel by bus or car—are facing a 14-month disruption of their normal commuting routine.

The reason is construction of three subterranean stations for the Metro Link light-rail line that will force the closing of several major downtown streets.

To speed access around downtown, some one-way streets will become two-way, but for only a block.

The new traffic patterns will go into effect Sunday, June 9, and rush-hour commuters will test the detours the next day.

Downtown commerce should experience "minimal negative impact and inconvenience," Jack Pohrer, president of Downtown St. Louis Inc., said May 21 when announcing the changes.

The major streets that will be closed are:

- Washington Avenue between Broadway and Seventh Street.
- Sixth Street from Lucas Avenue to the St. Louis Centre parking garage.
- Pine Street between Seventh and Ninth streets.
- Eighth Street between Olive and Chestnut streets.
- A one-lane-wide stretch of Eighth Street between Clark and Spruce streets.

These streets will carry two-way traffic for the duration of the Metro Link construction:

- Pine Street from Fourth to Seventh streets will have two westbound lanes and one east-bound lane.
- Sixth Street north of Locust Street will provide access to and from the St. Louis Centre parking garage.
- Chestnut Street will be two-way between Seventh and Eighth streets.
- Seventh Street will be two-way between Washington Avenue and Market Street with one northbound lane and two south-bound lanes.
- Finally, Eighth Street will be northbound between Olive and Locust streets.

The street closings also will force the Bi-State Development Agency to reroute 35 bus lines. Washington Avenue is a major artery for routes heading into Illinois and throughout St. Louis city and county.

Bus stops for 90 percent of the 100,000 passengers who ride Bi-State to and from downtown each weekday will be within two blocks of the current location, executive director Jack Leary said.

Schedules for 30 other routes will be adjusted to compensate for expected traffic delays.

The detour and street realignment plan was developed in meetings between St. Louis and police officials; Bi-State, which will build and operate Metro Link, and Downtown Inc.

The group decided that closing the streets would speed construction of the stations at St. Louis Centre, Eighth and Pine, and Busch Stadium.

One early Bi-State plan, for example, called for keeping open one or two lanes on each street a solution that officials said would have slowed construction as well as snarl traffic.

By closing the streets for 14 months, "construction impact will be limited to only one Christmas season and shoppers will see little inconveniences," said Pohrer, who also is president of St. Louis Parking Co.

Policemen will be posted throughout downtown during the first week of the new traffic system to help drivers maneuver through the detours, said Lt. Col. Raymond Lauer, deputy chief of the St. Louis police department.

Bi-State officials also will be roaming along Washington Avenue to help bus riders find their new bus stops, Leary said.

For more information on the new bus routes and schedules, Missouri riders should call Bi-State between 6 a.m. and 8 p.m. weekdays at 231-2345.

Illinois riders are to call 1-800-223-BUS.

Bus stops will be moved for the following Illinois routes: Caseyville, Cahokia, Collinsville-Edwardsville, Edwardsville Express (via Glen Carbon), Highland-Troy Express, Edwardsville Express (via Maryville).

Collinsville Express, Fairview Heights Express, Missouri Avenue-M.L. King.

McKinley-Alton, Godfrey Express, Alton Express, Belleville-St. Louis, Southbelt Express, Swansea-West Main Express, Belleville Express, Mascoutah Express, New Baden Express, Rosemont, Washington Park.

Alta Vista, Twentieth and Central and Waterloo-St. Louis Express.

DOG N-SUDS: Dick Ervay's restaurant venture in the 2200 block of Pontoon Road as it appeared when it opened in June of 1966.

He attributes his longevity at the location to a commitment to customers' needs.

"There have been some lean years and some good years," he said. "But we have always tried to keep our products and our service the best for the customers."

Ervay said this commitment has resulted in some regular customers patronizing his business throughout the 25 years.

"And some of the kids who were working for me (when I opened) now have kids of their own in college," he added. "That's when you know you're getting old."

The most recent restaurant at the site, opened May 15, is called Wallheimer's Etc. Steak House, one of three area Wallheimer's restaurants operated by Mary Wallheimer.

The other two Wallheimer's are located in Caseyville and Maryville.

The menu features steak and seafood, and the restaurant is open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and noon to 9 p.m. Sunday. Carryouts are available.

The lounge is still operated by Dick and Kerry Ervay and it features live music every Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

In observance of the quarter-century at the location, Ervay's

ERVAY'S: A new sign announced the metamorphosis of the restaurant in 1973.

Lounge will host an anniversary celebration Sunday, June 2, highlighted by food, live music by numerous bands, reduced drink prices and a variety of prizes.

The band, "No Respect," will perform from 2 to 4 p.m., followed by "Johnny Rondo and the Desperados" from 4 to 5 p.m. The "James R" Band will play from 5 to 6 p.m.

"Sky Line" will play from 7 to 8 p.m. and "Reflex" will follow from 8 to 9 p.m.

Jam sessions featuring the above bands, plus "Herb Sadler and Doris" and "Jim and Dave," are scheduled for 6 to 7 p.m. and 9 to 10 p.m.

Wallheimer's will barbecue pork steaks and bratwurst all day for the event.

Slain police officers remembered

EDWARDSVILLE — Pontoon Beach officer Dan Abel and several members of his family have been to five Police Officers Memorial Day ceremonies.

The service, Abel said, is a good way to remember his brother, Madison County Sheriff's Deputy James Robert Abel, and other law enforcement officers who have died in the line of duty.

"It's nice for them to take the time and do this," Abel said after a brief ceremony May 16 in the lobby of the courthouse.

The memorial and speech by the Rev. Thomas Succarotte, the sheriff's department chaplain, were in honor of James Robert Abel and three other officers who have died in the line of duty since 1930.

The Madison County Police Association sponsored the event.

In addition to Abel, officers killed while in uniform include David McCain from the Highland Police Department, who died May 5, 1990; Eddis Miller of the Alton Police Department, who died July 2, 1937; and Illinois State Trooper A.P. Goetting, who died Feb. 4, 1951.

James Robert Abel was killed in a car accident while responding to a call, his brother said. He was 23 and had been a sheriff's deputy for about eight months.

Succarotte said in his speech that more law enforcement officers nationwide have died in the line of duty than the number of Americans killed in combat during the Persian Gulf War.

Fitness trail planners are walking path of progress

GRANITE CITY — With the patience of long-distance runners, planners of an $80,000 fitness trail around Wilson Park are slowly advancing toward their goal.

A series of events will be held this summer to raise funds for the 1.4-mile all-weather asphalt track, said campaign Chairman Dennis Wilmsmeyer.

Within the last week, Max Speer of Granite City and his committee handed out 650 fliers with pledge forms to park joggers.

Soon, Terry and Dena Pierce and local businessman Don Adams are going to start contacting businesses in town for donations, Wilmsmeyer said.

Committee member Sandy Shaw is helping set up a dance at St. Gregory's Armenian Hall on Sept. 7 and there will be cash prizes, Wilmsmeyer said.

Several events that use running/walking as a theme are to be used in raising the money, he said.

Two walk-a-thons will be held around July 4. One will take place over the weekend in which the trail's benefit. They raised several thousand dollars over a week's period about two years ago," Wilmsmeyer said.

Wellness Director Jim Chiappa is assisting with that walk-a-thon the second conducted for the trail's benefit. "They raised several thousand dollars over a week's period about two years ago," Wilmsmeyer said.

Sam Akeman is the committeeman in charge of walk-a-thons.

A "Prediction Run" will be held Sunday, July 7, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. "People will predict the time it will take them to get around the track. The persons closest to it win the prizes, whatever they might be," he said.

Also planned but not as yet finalized is a golf tournament, being coordinated by Les Thompson.

The campaign committee is also planning to sell Pepsi and T-shirts during the July Fourth weekend here, Wilmsmeyer said.

The once-popular "footprint signs," removed from Wilson Park when the campaign started to slide last year, are being restored and will soon be back, Wilmsmeyer said. The signs featured footprints that were colored in as funds were raised.

So far, $20,000 of the goal has been met, he said.

In addition to those named above, committee members include Frieda Andrews, Julian Smith, Frank and Marlene Woodside, Betty Speer, Dena Lovacheff, Daisy Painter, Ray Morgan, Nancy Sanders-Miles, Elizabeth Adams and Karen Milton.

Committee meetings are now being held at 7 p.m. the first and third Thursdays of the month at the Harold Brown Recreation Center, Franklin Avenue and Poftoon Road.

Clinic to fight court order

By David Migoya
Staff writer

BELLEVILLE — A judge on Friday delayed by two days the enforcement of a court order requiring Planned Parenthood of the St. Louis Region to reveal the names of minors treated at its Fairview Heights clinic.

St. Clair County Associate Judge Robert LeChien originally ordered Planned Parenthood to reveal the names and addresses of teenage girls treated at the clinic by Tuesday, but extended that to Thursday to allow the organization time to research ways to appeal the order.

"This statute allows a wide latitude to investigate allegations of sexual abuse," LeChien said.

The court order was a result of an ongoing investigation by state child welfare officials into alleged improper sexual contact by a clinic doctor and a young patient during a gynecological exam.

At Friday's hearing, attorneys for the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services urged LeChien not to change his original compliance date since some schools would be closing for the summer next week and would inconvenience DCF's investigators trying to contact the minors.

"Investigators will have to go into the schools and in a couple more days we will have no more kids there," said Kay Giacomini, a DCF's attorney.

Belleville attorney Rex Carr, whom Planned Parenthood retained to represent their appeal, said the extension would allow him time to research the proper appeal process.

"I'm confident (the records) won't be turned over Thursday," Carr told LeChien.

At the center of the controversy are the rights of a clinic or medical facility to keep the names of patients confidential while maintaining the doctor-patient privilege to privacy.

However, LeChien on Wednesday ruled that the privilege does not exist in this case because a state law investigating allegations of child abuse preclude the privacy LeChien's order also allows the minors to be contacted while at school.

"We want our patients to know that we are not going to violate their trust, their right to privacy and the physician-patient privilege of confidentiality," said Paula Giannino, executive director of the chain of family planning clinics.

"We feel not only legally, but also morally and ethically bound by that privilege," she said.

Giannino said the organization's "phones have been ringing off the hook from people in the Fairview Heights area and across the river in support of us and in support of fighting the decision."

In its 20 years of operation in the region, the organization has treated more than 300,000 patients without a sexual-related allegation, Giannino said. About 300 patients are treated at the Fairview Heights clinic each week, manager Gail Shaw said.

"It is our very strong conviction that we are very cautious when we come to the point of violating the right of privacy of our patients and physician-patient privilege," said John Meyer, president of the board for Planned Parenthood.

Others in the medical field, particularly doctors, pharmacists and nurses, have offered support in the court battle, Giannino said.

Boot camps urged as prison alternative

SPRINGFIELD — The number of Illinois prison inmates will nearly double by the end of the decade, Illinois Department of Corrections has forecast.

The "stampede of new prisoners" can be headed off in part by additional prison boot camps and allowing earlier release of prisoners for good behavior, Corrections Director Howard Peters said.

The current adult prison population of 28,617 will increase to just under 55,000 by the year 2000 based on present trends, Peters said.

Housing the additional inmates would require 26 new prisons costing an estimated $1.4 billion, Peters said.

But Peters said the state "can't build our way out of the predicament" and suggested lawmakers authorize alternatives to the recent trend of longer prison sentences.

Boot camps would be one alternative, he said. In the camps, younger first-time felons are subjected to strict discipline for about five months rather than go to prison. One boot camp is now operating.

Peters suggested also that judges be allowed to grant again probation for residential burglary. A law that requires at least five-year sentences without probation for residential burglary convictions has swelled prison population.

Allowing early release for good time is also needed, Peters argued. A law passed last spring allowed the department to double the early release option from 90 days to 180 days. Without that law, about 800 more people would be in prison now, Peters added.

More overcrowding could lead to inhumane conditions and the possibility of the system being taken over by the federal courts, Peters also warned.

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE — Another milestone in the history of military airlift will occur Wednesday when the Military Airlift Command celebrates its 50th anniversary.

From its first days as the Air Corps Ferrying Command, through the multinational efforts of Operation Desert Storm 50 years later, MAC has played a crucial role in the defense of freedom throughout the world.

On May 29, 1941, in an effort to ensure rapid delivery of aircraft to England under the Lend-Lease program, the Air Corps Ferrying Command was formed.

By mid-1942, the command had been renamed the Air Transport Command, and as such took part in the World War II. Its most famous effort was in flying "The Hump" between India and China. Despite enemy action, icing, bad weather and problems caused by having to fly over the Himalayas, the force in the world, 10th Air Force units were able to deliver over 32,000 tons of supplies a month to forces fighting to oust the Japanese from China.

On June 1948, the Military Transport Service was organized. Two weeks later the Soviet et Union began closing highway, rail and water routes into Berlin, and a mere 25 days after it was formed, June 26, 1948, MATS began Operation Vittles, the airlift of food and other necessities into Berlin.

The allies broke the Soviet Blockade on May 12, 1949, some 11 months after it was started. During this period, using 342 aircraft, the allies flew some 266,600 missions, moving 2.3 million tons of supplies. By today's standards, that same mission could be accomplished by only 17 C-5s.

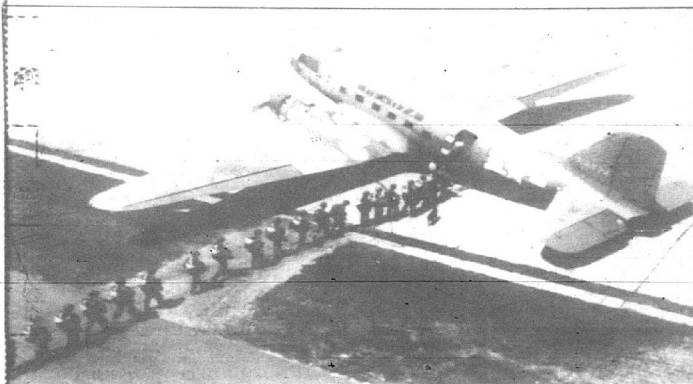

Ironically, MAC's biggest challenge has come during the year of its 50th anniversary with Operation Desert Shield/Desert Storm. In this massive operation, MAC flew more than 18,500 strategic airlift missions, moved more than 509,000 passengers and delivered more than 1.17 billion pounds of cargo.

The command today is responsible for nearly 80,000 active-duty people, both military and civilian, as well as more than 4,000 aircraft at 287 locations in 25 countries. In addition, MAC gained reserve forces would bring an additional 71,000 people and almost 400 aircraft to the command.

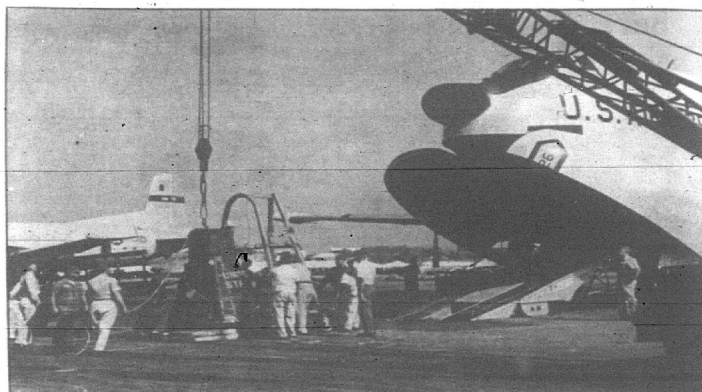

AFTER EARTHQUAKES and tidal waves rocked Chile in 1960, the MAC flew a humanitarian mission to the country.

C-118 and C-124 aircraft transported 851 tons of relief supplies and evacuated 1,020 people.

PARATROOPERS from Fort Benning, Ga., board a C-47 for a practice jump in 1946. The C-47 was both a superb cargo and troop carrier aircraft.

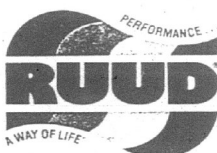

A C-124 GLOBEMASTER flew the final leg of America's first manned space mission returning the "Freedom 7" Mercury space capsule to Cape Canaveral in 1961.

Creation of BAC voting districts nears completion

By Jim Haverstick
Staff writer

BELLEVILLE—The long-awaited creation of voting districts for Belleville Area College is almost completed.

The State Board of Elections will be submitting a proposal to the board on or around June 3, said Ron Michaelson, executive director of the state board of elections.

"We are very close to completion and will be releasing a draft of the map for review and comment soon," Michaelson said.

The school's board of trustees will review the map of newly created subdistricts for the college and vote on it at the June 19 board meeting, he said.

The college district, which covers 2,182 square miles spread across six counties, will be divided into seven subdistricts according to population, he said. Currently board seats are determined by a district-wide vote.

There are more than 300,000 people in the community college district.

Michaelson would not release details of the subdistricts before the draft is submitted to the board; however, he did say the districts will not be the same size in area because of an uneven population distribution.

In order to divide the entire district evenly by population some of the rural districts will need to be much larger than the urban ones.

Residents of the BAC district voted in November 1988 to have the college district subdivided because they felt too many of the trustees were from St. Clair County and no one was representing the other areas, said BAC president Joe Cipri.

Trustees Kay Bennett, Ted Farmer and Janet McKeon are from Belleville, Betty Jenner is from Millstadt, chairman Larry Reinbeck lives outside of Freeburg, Don Theobald is from Red Bud and Bob Maxwell lives in Granite City.

The college district was to have been subdivided in 1989, but college officials and the State Board of Election preferred to wait until the 1990 census was completed rather than relying on 1980 population figures, Michaelson said.

Three positions on the board would have been up for grabs in 1989, however, the election was postponed until after redistricting, Cipri said.

All of the seats on the board will be up for grabs in November. Formerly, voters from throughout the district cast their ballots for each of the trustees.

Under the subdivided districts, one trustee will be elected from each district by residents of that district only, much the same way cities are divided into wards represented by alderman.

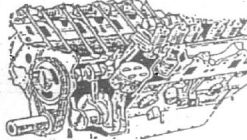

The deadline for completion of redistricting is June 26, Michaelson said.

Kids get help in critical first 3 years

By Martin Richter
Staff writer

For children with developmental delays, getting help during the first three years can make a whole of a difference in what they can achieve during the rest of their life.

As those who provide early intervention for such children like to say, "The sooner we start, the farther they'll go." In St. Clair, Monroe and Randolph counties, early intervention services are provided by PRIME/CARE, located at 2165 Country Road in Belleville.

Like other early intervention programs, PRIME/CARE serves infants and toddlers who are facing a variety of problems. They may be diagnosed with medical disorders like Down syndrome, cerebral palsy or rubella; delayed development in areas like cognition, language or fine and gross motor development; or at risk of developing problems because of premature birth, feeding problems or seizures.

PRIME/CARE is split into two components, according to Director Kathleen Cullen.

In the home-based components, PRIME/CARE workers visit the homes of babies that are, or have the potential to be, delayed.

"They work with the moms, and give them suggestions on how to work with them at home, so they don't get too far behind," Cullen said. After 15 months, the toddlers come to the PRIME/CARE classroom in Belleville. On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, teachers and therapists work with children with relatively severe disabilities, offering both physical and speech therapy. The children who come on Tuesdays and Thursdays get primarily speech therapy.

"It allows the child to get more therapy, and to get socialization with the other children," Cullen said. "Plus, it gives the moms a chance to meet and share experiences; to see that they aren't the only ones facing something like this."

After her son, Mark, went through 2½ years of PRIME/CARE, Sheri Sauthoff of O'Fallon kept working with the program as a parent facilitator.

"Being with other parents is important," she said. "That's why I'm back here. We try to do support groups with the parents. It's such an emotionally-charged period."

Sauthoff said her son's experience with PRIME/CARE is a success story. Mark, who is now 5 and in special education classes with Belleville District 118, has Down syndrome. He started as an infant in the home care, and then attended classes on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays until he was 3.

"For him especially it made a big difference," she said. "He was speech and language delayed, and he was motor delayed."

"I think one of the biggest things for me was when they were doing speech, they worked with him using total communication. They used a combination of verbal and sign language. He started signing before he started to speak."

Sauthoff said the sign language helped Mark "bridge the gap" to speech; he now speaks instead of using sign language.

Kim Hutchison of Belleville said her son Christopher, 2, "has benefited immensely" from PRIME/CARE. Hutchison said the program taught her how to work with Christopher at home, and being around the other children in the classroom has been a big help, as well.

"When he started, he didn't say a word," Hutchison said. "About a month after we started, he started saying 'hi' and 'bye,' and now he's over a hundred words."

According to Cullen, PRIME/CARE currently serves 50 or 60 children at home. Nineteen attend classes on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and eight on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The two children's hospitals in St. Louis refer children to the program, as do local health departments, she said.

TWO-YEAR-OLD CHRISTOPHER HUTCHISON of Belleville enjoys a game of catch recently at the PRIME/CARE classroom as his mother, Kim, watches.

Funding rides on House bill

PRIME/CARE and other early intervention programs could lose a large chunk of their funding if a bill that is up for a vote in the Illinois House of Representatives this week fails.

PRIME/CARE Director Kathleen Cullen.

The bill is the Early Intervention Services System Act, or House Bill 964.

State Rep. Jay Hoffman.

June blood drives planned

The American Red Cross will hold open blood drives at these Illinois locations in the coming weeks:

11 a.m. to 3 p.m. June 1, Sam's Wholesale Club, 1350 West Highway 50, O'Fallon.

2 p.m. to 7 p.m. June 3, First United Presbyterian Church, Route 151 and Royal Heights Road, Belleville.

3:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. June 3, Winstanley Baptist Church, 9471 West Highway 161, Fairview Heights.

D-Collinsville, said on Monday that HB 964 was on third reading, and slated for a vote this week — the final week for House bills in this legislative session.

"What that bill would do is kind of coordinate all the agencies in the state that serve children under the age of 3 with certain developmental disabilities," he said.

Hoffman declined to speculate on whether the bill would pass. But he said the fact that the bill has bi-partisan co-sponsors — House Minority Leader Lee Daniels, a Republican, and Rep. Terry Stepp, a Democrat — gives it "a good shot."

PRIME/CARE's budget of around $250,000 comes from a number of sources: the State Board of Education, The Illinois Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities, St. Clair County Mental Health and the United Way. Cullen said the agency will lose the funding from the State Board of Education — about $80,000 — after Aug. 31 if HB 964 is defeated.

"If it doesn't pass, we are going to have to cut services," Cullen said.

PRIME/CARE normally bills the insurance companies of children's families for part of the cost of the program. Cullen said the program "just assumes the loss" if the family doesn't have sufficient insurance.

3 win in music contest

Three students — Melanie Gensert, Wendy Atkinson and Larry Wiegand — from St. Elizabeth School received 1st place ratings in the state Music Contest held May 4 at East Junior High in Belleville.

All three students advanced to the state contest after participating in the Illinois Grade School Music Association District contest on March 16 at East Middle School in Alton.

Those earning a 1st Place Rating at the district contest were: vocal solo, Wendy Atkinson and Larry Wiegand; piano solo, Lynette Brown, Melanie Gensert, and Krislyn Niggli; the 7th-8th

IMSA invites 6th sophomore class

AURORA — A total of 192 students from throughout Illinois have been invited to enroll this fall as members of the Illinois Mathematics and Science Academy's (IMSA) sixth sophomore class.

Area students selected include: Gregory Kaiser of Belleville, Althoff Catholic High School; Zane Slack of East St. Louis; George Rogers Clark Jr. High School; Cory Randolph of Fairview Heights; George Rogers Clark Jr. High School; and Lucas Pain of Highland, Highland High School.

Chosen from a total of 819 applicants, the invited Class of 1994 represents 146 schools and 120 communities throughout the state. Students offered admission include 85 girls and 107 boys. The average SAT mathematics and verbal scores for the class are 650 and 533 respectively. This compares to the national average for college-bound seniors of 476 and 424.

Located in Aurora, IMSA is the state's three-year public residential high school for talented mathematics and science students. The Academy opened in 1986 and will graduate its third senior class June 1.

Local cable telethon Sunday to raise Easter Seal funds

The Easter Seal Society of Southwestern Illinois will host its first local cable telethon Sunday, June 2, from noon to 6 p.m.

Bob Richards, chief meteorologist of KSDK Channel 5, will serve as celebrity host.

Co-hosts include: David Craig of WIL-FM, Norm Greenburg of WIBY, Greg Gelman, president of Bluff City Trolley, and Dawn Frison, reigning Miss Illinois Universal Charm.

Seven area cable networks will show the telethon on their community access channels. They are: ConCom Cable channel 10, Continental Cable channel 3, Edwardsville Cable channel 18, Enstar Cable channel 12, Granite City channel 18, Macoupin County Cable channel 28 and TCI

Cable channel 22.

The telethon will feature programs and services the local Easter Seal Society offers.

Documentary spots from the national Easter Seal Society will also be shown.

In addition, 35 of the top talent acts, chosen from southwestern Illinois, will entertain viewers.

The Easter Seal Society anticipates raising more than $10,000, with all proceeds to stay within the seven-county service area.

To make a pledge, the toll-free number is 1-800-462-8897.

Pearl Harbor anniversary to be noted

Plans are under way to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor.

A week-long series of events is scheduled for the period of Dec. 2-9 to honor all of America's military veterans (both combatant and non-combatant) who have served at any time during the past half century, according to retired Lt. Col. Hal Ryder.

Ryder is heading a planning committee under the designation, "Operation Friendly Invasion."

Created 12 years ago, the group has spearheaded commemorative events honoring historic occasions in 49 nations.

A "Youth and Education" theme has been developed as the objective of the golden anniversary events and will involve young people and citizens of many countries worldwide.

The Pearl Harbor commemorations will be the first of a series of observances designed to perpetuate the achievements and contributions of America's military forces in restoring freedom to more than 50 countries since the United States was propelled into war on Dec. 7, 1941, with the surprise attack on the naval base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

The events of that date instantly united the country and launched America into action in World War II.

All branches of the service will be recognized at the Pearl Harbor events and will be supported by veterans of other nations with special honors for the civilian population as well.

Veterans of all war-time actions — including World War II, Korea, Vietnam, Grenada and Panama — will be recognized. And, in an unusual change, "peacetime" veterans will be honored for carrying on the unbroken tradition and commitment to serving mankind through the deterrent of our military forces from 1941 until the present time.

For those wishing to travel to Hawaii to take part in the events, full information is available from Accent Travel in Geneseo, Ill., (309) 944-5351 or (309) 936-7976.

Labor '91 awards dinner held in Granite City

The Greater Madison County Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO, held its second annual dinner May 11 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Granite City.

Four members of local unions were honored for outstanding efforts—not only for their union but for the community.

A total of 285 persons attended the program, the dinner and a dance.

The guest speaker was Charley Stott, director of AFL-CIO Area 1. He praised the federation for its growth and for its many activities in the community.

U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Bellefonte, made a surprise appearance and pledged his commitment for the good of working men and women. Many other elected officials also were introduced.

The program was opened by the singing of the national anthem by Jackie Greer, Granite City, the current Miss Illinois and daughter of Jack Greer, a member of the federation's executive board.

The awards presented were: Community Service: Awarded to Nelson Miller from Carpenters Local 377.

Miller played a big part in labor's role in building the Gordon Moore Park in Alton. The presenter of this award was Glenda Arnett, Ladies Garment Union and currently community services director of the Riverbend United Way.

Most Active Union Retiree: Awarded to Frances Jackson, a Machinists Lodge 660 retiree.

Jackson has been busy as the director of the Food Crisis Center, Alton, which provides food for the needy. She has been involved in similar efforts for many years. This award also was presented by Arnett.

George Meany, Scouting Award: Presented to John Bridgeman, member of Laborers Local 218, this award was introduced in 1974 to honor former AFL-CIO President George Meany, who had a long commitment to Boy Scouts and the youth of this country.

Bridgeman has been active in Scouting since 1962 and has participated in nearly every phase of Scouting. He has taken Scouts to national jamborees across the country. The presenter of this award was Guy Mudd, secretary of the Madison County Federation of Labor.

Friend of Labor: Given to State Rep. Jim McPike, majority leader of the Illinois House of Representatives. Presenter of this award was Robert Means.

Labor Leader of the Year: Awarded to Charles Mohr, a long-time labor leader and member and president of Machinists Lodge 660. In addition, he has served 14 years as president of the Federation of Labor.

Mohr has been active in all kinds of community service, especially with the United Way.

THE FROG IS IN: "Fred," a tree frog, lives in a wren house 12 feet above the ground in the back yard of Don and Mary Lou Paterson's home in the 4000 block of Garden Lane in Pontoon Beach. Fred, who got his name from the Patersons' grandchildren, is spending his second summer in the bird house.

Prostitute with AIDS prompts guideline plan

The case of an Alton prostitute accused of trying to spread AIDS has resulted in proposed guidelines for future cases.

The Illinois Department of Public Health's proposed guidelines, sent to the AIDS Advisory Council for review, list several procedures for dealing with "non-compliant HIV carriers."

The state earlier this spring asked that Felicia Horton, 31, be isolated after she was accused of behavior that could spread the virus that causes AIDS.

Acquired immune deficiency syndrome attacks the body's immune system, leaving victims susceptible to a wide variety of infections and cancers. No cure is known for the fatal disease.

The Horton case prompted a number of inquiries from around the state on what procedures should be followed, department spokesman Tom Schafer said.

Although the case was the first in which the department formally requested isolation, "there have been other cases that have come close," he said.

The proposed guidelines say state and local health departments must reasonably believe the carrier is a public health threat. Isolation must be reasonably believed to be effective in reducing the threat and be the least restrictive solution available.

The guidelines set up complaint procedures including observation by a counselor or other health care professional that someone who tested positive was continuing behavior that could transmit it.

There would be at least two counseling sessions with the carrier and a directive to stop behavior that could spread the virus. Local health departments would document all counseling and directives.

Failure to comply would be reported to the state, which would decide what to do next. The person could be forced to seek additional treatment or counseling or be placed under supervision. A court also could be asked to commit the person to an institution.

The carrier's identity must be disclosed only to those directly involved in the investigation. If a court order is sought, it would be heard in closed session and the record sealed by the court.

In the Horton case, neither Public Health nor local health agencies revealed her identity, but it became public when she was charged with attempted criminal transmission of the AIDS virus, a felony.

Paper boats race at lake

Wet and wild, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville's annual Great Cardboard Boat Regatta was a soggy splash May 10 in the campus Tower Lake.

Corrugated cardboard creations competing in the 200-yard race ranged from a tube of toothpaste to a floating island complete with palm trees. There was even a Tub O' Love.

"It's a lot of fun," said Rich Soltyz, the dripping wet, proud skipper of the downed S.S. Minnow.

Soltyz and the other members of SIUE's Biology Club toiled home the much-coveted Titanic award for the most dramatic sinking, beating out the more than half a dozen boats that entered.

The Minnow, boasting a "2,000-horsepower" cardboard motor, slogged its way halfway through the race before losing power and taking on water.

Dry ice fueling the motor continued to smoke well past the finish line.

"We plan to be here yearly," Soltyz said, smiling and posing on top of what used to be a worthy cardboard boat.

The event, sponsored by the University Alumni Association, the Office of Campus Recreation and Landlady Waste Systems Inc., attracted several hundred spectators to the shores of Tower Lake.

The object of the regatta was to design, build and navigate a boat made entirely of cardboard.

The overall winner was required to master the course four times without sinking.

Members of SIUE's Construction Club lived up to their outfit's name and built the fastest and most watertight cardboard creation.

Their two-man kayak took first place.

The award for most creative use of cardboard went to the University Center's Tub O' Love, a cardboard hot-tub that proved competitive in the race but not quick enough to win.

The award for prettiest boat went to SIUE's Catholic Campus Ministry.

The floating cardboard island barely survived four trips around the course. The Roxana Junior High Coast Guard sank.

For Fairview Heights dentist Dean Drake, this year's regatta may mark the last time he takes to unflooded water to promote fighting tooth decay.

Drake and his 9-year-old son, Aaron, paddled around the course perched on a two-man tube of toothpaste, both smiling and baring white teeth the entire way.

"The first year I tried floss," the elder Drake said. "It didn't work too well. It flooded after about three seconds."

City has 7 homeless dogs

GRANITE CITY — The Animal Control Department reports it had seven animals at the city pound as of May 24. Persons wishing to reclaim or adopt one of the dogs should call Animal Control at 452-6233. The animals at the pound are:

- ✓ A small tricolor mixed pup, female, found May 21 in the 2200 block of Edna Street.
- ✓ A small brown pup, male, found May 22 at the shelter.
- ✓ A large blond lab, male, found May 22 at 2315 Delmar Ave.
- ✓ A small tricolor mixed beagle, male, found May 23 at Prather School. Also, a medium tricolor basset hound, female, found May 23 at 2301 Adams St.
- ✓ A small brown and black pup, male, found May 23 at the shelter.
- ✓ A small black Yorkie found May 24 in the 1600 block of Maple Street.

By statute, animals not claimed or adopted may be destroyed five working days following their capture by Animal Control.

Retired teachers to meet

Madison County Retired Teachers Association Unit 3 will meet at the Cornucopia Buffet in the Cottonwood Mall, Glen Carbon, at 11 a.m. Friday, June 7. The cost of lunch is $6.

Margaret Linder, a Collinsville artist, will speak. Reservations are due by June 3. For more information, persons may call 344-2854 or 451-6651.

Roberts Club benefit dinner

The Joe W. Roberts Youth Athletic Club will hold a benefit banquet June 14. The first hosted by the club, it will take place at the ANVETS Hall, 1711 Kennedy Drive, Madison, at 7 p.m.

The club serves 200 area youths. Six days each week, children are provided an opportunity to participate in sports, receive tutoring, and become involved in other activities. Roberts said the club will offer a basic computer class this summer.

Information regarding the banquet can be obtained by calling 451-2884 or 876-3111.

The club, established in 1984, is a Tri-Cities Area United Way agency.

Colonial Center recognized

Colonial Care Center, formerly Colonial Haven Nursing Home, has just completed an inspection of care, conducted by the state of Illinois.

The home was surveyed from May 6-17 and evaluated on its nursing care, restorative nursing, physical therapy, psycho-social, activity and fitness programs.

A final score of 98.3 percent was given to Colonial Care Center by the state, the highest it has ever received.

On May 20, Charlie's Restaurant catered a luncheon for the staffs of all shifts to honor the employees for their work.

environmental health conference held in Cincinnati, in order to get the views of the scientific community on lead contamination in soil. At the conference, Hanke said, they discovered the scientists had a lot of interest in Granite City's problems with the EPA.

"I think they really like hearing from the real world," Hanke said. "They tend to be fairly isolated in academia and are really interested in how their research is being used, or abused, out in the real world."

In Cincinnati, Dr. Bobby Wixson of Clemson University presented the final report of the Soil Lead Task Force of the Society for Environmental Geochemistry and Health. Its mission was to establish an international standard for evaluating the risk factors of lead in soil and an outline for planning remedial actions.

The SEGH model, a six-phase flow chart leading from discovery of a problem to a final solution, was used by Hanke and Tarporff in the report as to what should have happened with the Taracorp contamination.

The EPA, their paper says, skipped major portions of the flow chart and instead went through some unknown process illustrated in the report as a maze in the shape of a question mark.

At times the scientific community does not realize the monster which it creates with research," Hanke and Tarporff's paper says.

"Or perhaps better put, the monster created by others out of the research. The EPA's Taracorp Record of Decision is a case in point mandating the terms of the cleanup is a case in point."

The EPA Dr. Frankenstein, EPA has taken the "parts" of scientific research (the biokinetic uptake model, the concept of lead contamination in tissue independent of blood lead levels, and statistical data) and combined them into a monstrosity.

But, the paper says, another regional office of the EPA is studying the possibility of reclaiming a very similar pile at a Superfund site in Oregon "despite an apparent lack of technology."

The EPA's LaFaire said she could not answer specific questions about the cleanup plan, but said, "Our remedy was selected after careful consideration based on what we determined would best protect the health and environment."

LaFaire referred all other questions to Brad Bradley, Taracorp project manager, who was unavailable Thursday and Friday.

Hanke and Tarporff's paper says the EPA acknowledges its planned cleanup is based on criteria that lack a scientific base.

Further, it says, the EPA's plan to remove all the residential soil found to contain 500 parts per million is not even supported by its own unsound data, which would indicate a threshold of 1,000 ppm.

"Let's make this very clear — we want any lead contamination problem here to be solved," Hanke said. "But, based on what the EPA deemed necessary to tell us, we just don't know what the problem is."

"Suppose future research reveals 500 ppm of lead is too high a figure. If the EPA has gone ahead and spent three years tearing up all the yards, sidewalks and curbs in the area and that happens, will we have to start all over again? They just don't know."

Another sticking point, Hanke and Tarporff's paper says, is the EPA's plans to just seal over the Taracorp waste pile at 15th and State streets, citing a lack of technology and the risk of removing the pile.

poll's paper, is the "omnipotently arrogant manner in which the EPA has disregarded the scientific community" and "adamantly refused to even consider revision of (its) cleanup plan."

Hanke's report on dioxin, Hanke said, clearly explains the city's position on what the EPA should be doing.

"Bernard Oser, one of the grand masters of toxicology, said at the 1985 Summer Toxicology Forum that we needed more common sense and scientific judgment in the process of quantitative risk assessment," Hanke said.

"The vast amount of dioxin research over the last decade gives us the science base to use good scientific judgment. Now, let us have the common sense to use it."

Hanke said, "I think we've got the same type of thing here. We've got the science base with things like the SEGH report on lead in soil and other research."

But, Hanke said, the EPA must withdraw its Record of Decision before any further scientific research can be applied to the Taracorp cleanup.

"The EPA is a bureaucracy. If you are in a bureaucracy and you want to make more money, you can wait for your yearly step increases. Or you can wait for the dinosaur above you to die. Or you can increase your position upgraded," Hanke said.

"Step increases are nothing. The dinosaur isn't going to die. While you're young enough to enjoy it. So you start building a dynasty under you. You keep making a problem bigger and bigger so it will take more people and resources to attack it."

"The bigger and more complex you can make the project, the bigger they staff you can justify and the more you can get your position upgraded."

"For a bureaucrat, solving a problem is actually counterproductive."

expressed interest in a downtown site as a pilot location for a plastic recycling operation.

A new recycling process, characterized by Warren Peterson of River City Marketing as one of the first of its kind in the world, would utilize a downtown site in sort and process plastic in preparation for recycling.

Madison County Transit is interested in building a bus terminal at the 19th Street site of the former Washington Theater, after it is razed, although no agreement between the city and MCT has been reached. Demolition is expected to be completed within 45 days.

The location is a hub for current MCT operations. All local routes currently pass through the 1900 block of Edison Avenue, which is used as a transfer point.

The anticipated additional vehicular and pedestrian traffic resulting from a bus terminal is a factor many businesses will take into account when deciding where to locate, Worth emphasized.

That figure will play a significant role in establishing the '92 budget, as the city attempts to find at least one million dollars — on hand at all times.

The FY '92 budget is currently being put together by Mayor Von Dee Cruse and the Finance Committee with the assistance of MacTaggart.

Surplus

Miscellaneous savings — of $424, for a total of $198,488 — less expenses than anticipated.

The FY '90 surplus of $37,975, plus $347,413 cash on hand May 1, 1989, plus the $39,246 surplus for FY '91, less an estimated $37,232 in expenditures for FY '91 expenses, leaves an estimated $1,386,502 cash available at the beginning of FY '92.

Salaries and benefits — budgeted $8,225,057, but expended only $8,100,638. MacTaggart noted that the figure includes raises for 1991. Department employees (at 2 percent) and the Police Department (at 3.5 percent) because those departments had signed contracts by the end of FY '91. Results of further increases, and retroactive wage reimbursement, will appear in the FY '92 expenses.

Garbage contract savings — budgeted expenditure of $790,000, but spent only $748,774.

Judgment and settlement savings — budgeted $471,475, but spent only $459,036.

Library offers Civil War video

The Granite City District Library, 2001 Delmar Ave., has purchased the Time-Life video series titled The Civil War.

Written by Ken Burns, Ric Burns and Geoffrey Ward, the nine-video series has been shown on KETC in St. Louis and the Public Broadcasting System.

It presents the Civil War from the perspective of those who experienced it. Various personalities representing the politicians, generals, enlisted men and their families relive the war through speeches, letters and other documents.

Each video can be borrowed for seven days, with a limit of two titles at a time.

Day camp offered by YMCA during summer

The Tri-City Area YMCA will offer 10 weeks of day camp this summer, beginning the week of June 10.

"Day camp is much more than 'day care' because we have so much to offer," according to Corrina Landon, YMCA camp director. "We go to a campsite every day and swim, fish, canoe, play games, sing songs, hike in the woods... There are many activities."

Each day, campers travel to the Belleville YMCA family recreation center, a wooded area with a lake, playground, beach and camping facilities.

Campers participate in a variety of activities with other campers in their own age group.

There is an obstacle course to run and there are ball fields, swing sets and canoes. "We never run out of things to do," said Landon.

The purpose of the camp is to provide "a place for children six to 13 years old to learn self-worth, confidence and Christian values, and to have fun while learning."

Each week, the campers take a field trip to a location of interest in the area. Trips include: the Zoo, the Tom Sawyer boat, the Arch, a museum, Shaw's Garden, Continental Bakery, Cahokia Mounds, Grant's Farm, Scott Air Force Base, Science Center, History Museum and Six Flags.

Parents drop their children off at the YMCA at 8 a.m. and pick them up at 5 p.m. "In the meantime, the children discover a whole new world of fun, adventure and learning," Landon said.

Because of space, the YMCA is only taking 30 children per week. Pre-registration is required.

More information on the camp can be obtained by calling the "Y" at 876-7200.

Many hazardous chemical leaks in county during '90

Madison County ranked fifth in the state in the number of hazardous chemical releases reported to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency in 1990.

The IEPA Office of Chemical Safety investigated 124 reports of hazardous chemical releases in Madison County last year.

Cook County topped the 102 Illinois counties with 1,207 releases. DuPage County was second with 291, followed by Lake with 182 and Will with 125.

The agency investigated 11 incidents in Macoupin County, six in Jersey County, five in Greene County and three in Calhoun County last year.

The number of reports increased 35 percent from 1989, said James O'Brien, manager of the agency's office of chemical safety. Tighter regulations may be the reason, he added.

The IEPA was notified of 3,793 toxic chemical accidents last year in 1989; the agency heard of 2,733 such incidents.

There's a whole slew of reasons for the 1990 increase," he said. "I suspect there's probably a real incident increase of 8 to 10 percent, with the rest of it being better reporting."

A specific breakdown of the types of emergency incidents by county will not be available until the annual report is issued later this spring, said Dennis Ahlberg of the IEPA.

Leaking underground storage tanks accounted for 1,954 reports. Releases from fixed facilities accounted for 3,156 of the total, followed by 236 highway spills, 74 railroad spills, 131 on waterways, and smaller numbers in other locations.

FREE LAYAWAY • FINANCING AVAILABLE

If you finance your auto purchase elsewhere, you may end up like this.

Once you find the car you want, it's easy to get caught up in the excitement of owning it. Before you know it, the deal's complete, and you're on your way to show off the new wheels.

Sounds great, but how do you know for sure you didn't "take a bath" in finance costs? Before you purchase your next vehicle, look to your credit union for low-cost financing. Granite City Steel & Community Federal Credit Union has reduced all loan rates on new cars and trucks by one-half percent. This special offer has been extended through June 30:

25% Down
9.4% APR for 48 months

10% Down
10.4% APR for 48 months
10.4% APR for 60 months

Nothing Down
9.0% APR for 36 months
11.5% APR for 48 months

(The credit union will also finance sales tax and license fees.)

Plus, many auto dealers offer cash rebates as an alternative to their own financing. By borrowing from your credit union, you may qualify for a dealer rebate to help decrease the purchase price of your car—and ultimately, your monthly payment.

So when it comes to your next vehicle purchase, let your credit union keep you from "taking a bath" in finance costs. To apply, stop by or call our loan department today.

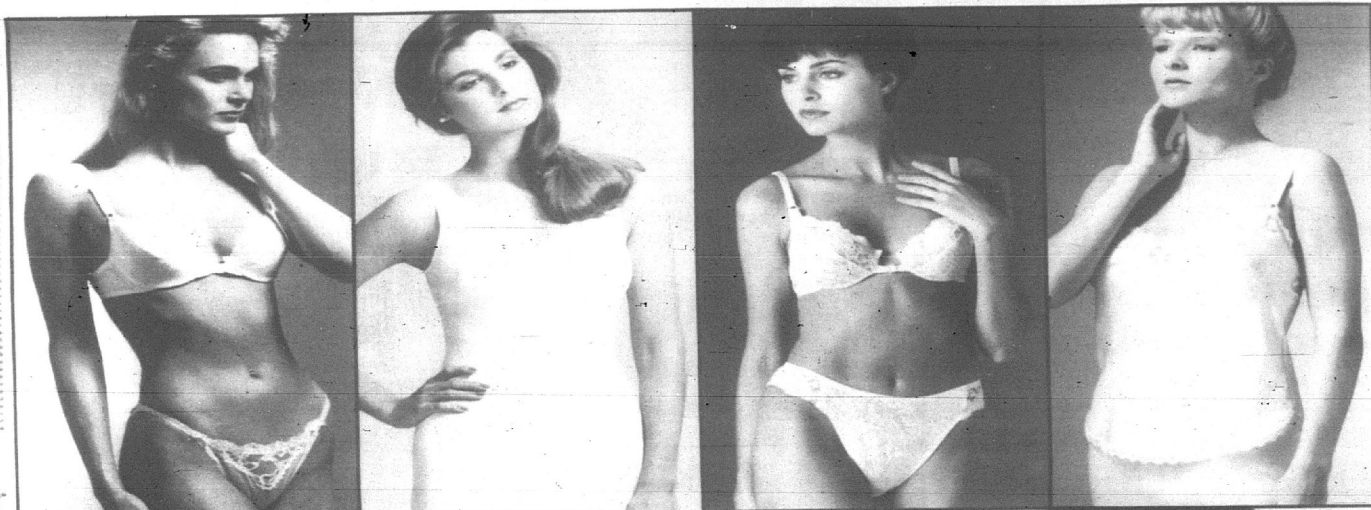

And remember, you can save even more on our special rates and terms through the end of June, so hurry!

Lady Warriors on brink again

A black and white photograph capturing a dynamic moment during a soccer match. In the foreground, a player wearing a white jersey and dark shorts is in the middle of a kicking motion, his right leg extended towards a soccer ball on the grass. He is wearing white socks and cleats. To his right, a player in a dark jersey with a light-colored horizontal stripe across the chest is sliding in from the side, attempting to tackle the ball. The word "Moose" is visible on the light stripe of the dark jersey. In the background, other players in white and dark jerseys are visible, along with a chain-link fence and a building. The image has a grainy, high-contrast quality typical of older newspaper prints.

Following dinner, master of ceremonies Roger Laws presented the evening's guest speaker, Babe Champion, former baseball and football coach for Granite City High School.

Principal Sister Mary Angeline then announced the Honor Athletes for the school year. In order to be an Honor Athlete, a student must maintain a "B" average. Those students included: Gregory Edwards, Joe Gajowski, Sonia Guerrero, Ryan Hampsey, Jill Hellrich, Jodie Marsala, Heather Mell, Mark Miller, Eric Mooshegian, David Zellerman and Jaime Zimmer-

Mr. Angeline then announced the Scholar Athletes — students who maintained an "A" average. They included: Jamie Carney, Jamie Dellbringe, Vanessa Dillard, Mark Dittman, Timothy Dittman, Kenneth Felty, Tim Goske, Michael Halbrook, Sarah Halvachs, Kristi Huff, Brian Hopkins, Kristi Huff, Matthew Kelahan, Robert Lampitt, Matthew Laws, Suzanne Lerch, Harper Mance, Traci Mell, Andrew Oney, Amanda Preloger, Ann Rosenberg, Melanie Tapp and Jeanie York.

Following St. Angelo's presentation, Laws introduced the sixth grade girls' volleyball team, which was coached by her dad, her brother and her brother's coach. The team's captain is Emily Halvachs, Kristin Huff and Nicole Knobloch. Laura Marzulli is the team's head leader. The team's manager is Kristin Trillo. The team's assistant manager is Amanda Richardson. Adrienne Wheatley, Mary Wienhoff, Jeanne York and Jaime Zimmerman are the team's eighth grade girls' volleyball team. The team was announced under the coaching of St. Mary's Stanley and assistant coaches, Gerty Perty and Michael Tapal. The team's manager is Amanda Grege. The team's assistant manager is Takisha Griggs. Physicals Wednesday

Physical exams for Granite City High School students wishing to take part in athletics during the 1991-92 school year will be given Wednesday night.

This is the only exam night provided for the entire year. The exams will start at 5:30 p.m. Drs. Konzen, Hartzel and Dargatzis from St. Elizabeth's Medical Center will provide the physicals. The cost is $15. Checks should be made out to St. Elizabeth's Medical Center.

Students should report by 5:15 p.m. to the annex gym. Everyone should wear loose-fitting shirts and shorts, plus tennis shoes. Baseball and girls soccer participants will have physicals first as they have an athletic banquet at 7 p.m.

this one wasn't the same. Their second goal was kind of questionable. They had a player interfering with our goalie. That goal took a lot out of us.

Freshman Brooke Bjorkman gave Alton goalie Kathy Klope fits all day. And she was right there again at 4:30. Michelle took a long shot, and Bjorkman and Klope collided. The ball popped loose to Witter, who rarely misses. This was no exception.

Witter assisted on Lenz's goal at 5:30 of the first quarter. Lenz had to avoid the referee before unloading a perfect 20-yard shot from the left side. It sailed over Klope to the far corner.

It's no surprise that Addie Amanda got us on the board, said Baker. But it was our depth on defense that made the difference. Ann Logan and Dawn Odum stayed with Camie Bechtold, and Julie Goclan did a fantastic job with Carrie.

The twins are dangerous at all times and accounted for three of our four shots. Camie Bechtold got behind the defense halfway through the third quarter, but didn't get a strong shot. Stephanie Kull made the save. Kull collected the Lady Warriors' 15th shutout. She also made a good save on Kristen Myers in the fourth quarter.

"It was great team defense," said Baker. "Angela Blason was outstanding again. Brooke Bjorkman, Tammy Dutko, I could name just about everybody."

All of the Lady Warriors—particularly the seniors—would have dearly loved to knock off Collinsville to wipe away three years of frustration. But a win over Springfield would be only slightly less satisfying.

"You have to play well against anybody at this point of the season, and we are playing very well," said Baker.

NOTES: Collinsville gave the Lady Warriors one of their two losses, 1-0 on May 6. Their other loss was to Oakville—won the Missouri state title with a 5-0 win over Incarnate Word on Saturday. The Tigers beat Granite City 2-0 on April 12 and lost only once all year. The Lady Warriors beat Incarnate Word 2-1 on April 26.

Brazee

jumped 7-0 on May 21, so I was confident of my chances at state. I've just gotten better and better in the last month. Practice makes perfect.

"We spent at least six days a week perfecting my form during the season. The main things we worked on were the fundamentals. I knew Dan was going to be prepared, so I had to meet every one of his challenges."

"I can't wait to be Cameron's teammate next season," Brazee said. "We'll have a chance to work out together and better ourselves. Having Darrin Plab (of Mascoutah, who jumped 7-0 this season as a freshman at SIUC), will also be a great benefit. He's something else, and he should help us with our development."

"Cameron and I really pushed each other this season and built quite a rivalry. We have a lot of respect for each other. I won the season series, but he won the big one."

Brazee came into the state meet with a personal challenge. After finishing fourth last season, he found himself struggling late in the year. He only jumped 6-6 at the Southwestern Conference Meet on May 9 and 6-9 at the Belleville East Sectional on May 17.

"For some reason I developed a mental block about clearing the bar with my feet," he said. "I was getting my back and my behind over, but I couldn't get my legs over. It might have been the pressure of coming up here and placing. A lot of people at school kept telling me I was going to clear seven feet and win the state title, but it's easier said than done. People don't realize the barrier. It almost compared to my freshman and sophomore years, when I had the same problems trying to clear six feet."

"Dan really struggled through the final weeks of the regular season," Granite City coach Dave McClain said. "I guess he was so focused in on the state meet that everything else was just secondary."

"I've hit the 6-10 mark at least four or five times this season," Brazee said. "You can't be concerned about winning during a meet. The main thing is reaching the distance you're shooting for. Everything will take care of itself. My goal was to reach 7-0 today and I did it. That's why I'm proud of second place."

"I really thought he had a chance to win the title with a 6-10 or 6-11," McClain said. "Dan showed good form today, but Wright matched him jump for jump. It was a great duel between two fine athletes."

NOTES: Junior Larry Curry of the Warriors finished ninth in the discus (135.5). The winning loss was 178-9 by Chicago Vocational's Greg Wilkins. Jase Buckner of Quincy, whom Curry beat in the sectional, placed fifth. Missouri got shutout at the state meet. The Tigers didn't advance anyone out of the preliminaries. Brian Campbell's best long jump in Friday action was 18-10. Harold Moody, who finished sixth in the 400 finals last season, ran 1:27.4 in his heat race. The 200-meter team ran a 3:36.11.

Ewing to second, but Meisenheimer grounded out. Reeves almost escaped, but Vaughn plunked one into short left field.

Still, the Warriors had one more chance. With one out in the bottom of the seventh, Reeves (0 for 8 in the regional) walked. Then Partney doubled inside third base and Lewis was walked intentionally. Van Buskirk hit one back to Vaughn, who forced Reeves at the plate.

That brought up Marshall—the only Warrior who had been able to hit Vaughn hard in the early innings. But he popped out to first to end it.

Food Surprise

Gifts, goodies ensure successful shower

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

Bridal showers are — and yet they aren't — what they used to be. They hold to the custom of surprising the bride at an event she possibly suspects. She may be only half as surprised though, because the groom may be her co-honoree. With a working wife, he is apt to use the household gifts as much as she does.

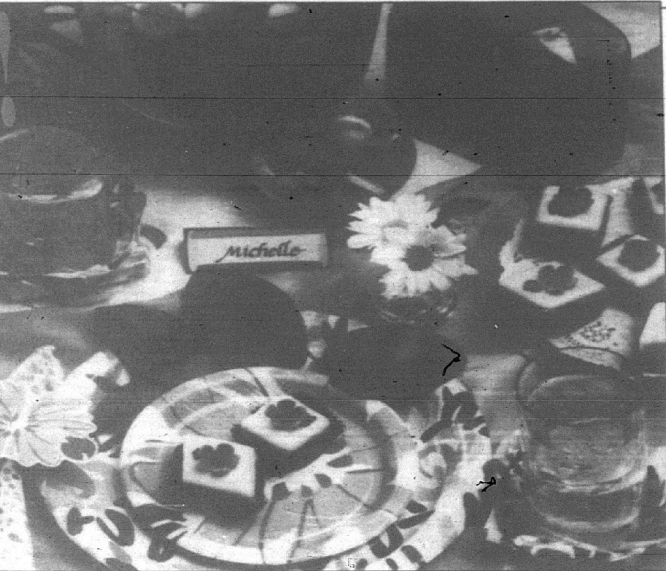

Filling the linen closet and the kitchen pantry with handy items remains the true purpose behind a shower. How basic the gifts are depends on the bride and groom's background. They may need measuring spoons or be expert wok users.

Gifts play center stage at a shower, but refreshments play a part, too. Keep them simple. Let the guys find out what they were missing all these years by serving traditional sweets.

Keep cleanup simple by using attractive and colorful paper plates and napkins. If the event is held outdoors, secure napkins by wrapping them around cutlery and tying with a colorful ribbon, then stage them upright in a basket. Create a rainbow effect with double-decker napkins, folding one down at the corner to show a coordinating color.

For a table decoration, select a set of juice glasses or small vases for the bride couple and fill each with a couple daisies. Guests take home the fresh flowers, while the newlyweds carry off the glasses. Another table decoration can be made by setting out baskets with utensils like brushes and spatulas, mixing and perforated spoons, short- and long-handled tongs and a whisk are musts. A kitchen timer and two sets of measuring spoons, one for wet and one for dry ingredients, should not be forgotten. Include 1-cup and 1-quart glass measures so they can be used in a microwave oven.

Equipping the stove and oven area requires two cookie sheets, one jellyroll pan, a rectangular baking dish with a cover, a square baking dish, two glass pie pans, one ring pan, three saucepans of various sizes with covers, cooling racks, a large pot, mixing bowls, a shallow roasting pan with rack, a large and a small heavy skillet and a covered casserole dish.

Stocking kitchen gives bride and groom smooth start

Inviting the groom to a wedding shower makes it bigger and better.

Whatever a couple's level of housekeeping expertise, they may not have all the equipment they need. Start with utensils that help a kitchen run smoothly. Bottle and can openers, a corkcrew, ladle, rolling pin, spatulas, mixing and perforated spoons, short- and long-handled tongs and a whisk are musts. A kitchen timer and two sets of measuring spoons, one for wet and one for dry ingredients, should not be forgotten. Include 1-cup and 1-quart glass measures so they can be used in a microwave oven.

Equipping the stove and oven area requires two cookie sheets, one jellyroll pan, a rectangular baking dish with a cover, a square baking dish, two glass pie pans, one ring pan, three saucepans of various sizes with covers, cooling racks, a large pot, mixing bowls, a shallow roasting pan with rack, a large and a small heavy skillet and a covered casserole dish.

Other equipment that would be appreciated in plastic cutting boards, paring knives, a vegetable peeler, long serrated and straight-edged knives, a slicer, a sharp and a sharpening tool, as well as a pepper mill, pasta scoop with holes, plastic and wire strainers and mixing bowls.

Pay attention to quality and usefulness. Some pots can be used in both conventional and microwave ovens. Choose quality knives for durability. Cutlery should be tough, but not overly heavy. Equipment should be dishwasher-safe and able to survive tough use and temperatures.

For other gift themes, concentrate on rooms of the house, like the bathroom, garage or utility room, or work with certain times of day. These wife-in-charge foods can open a week and extend from one group of friends, and a pasta maker with Italian foods given by another.

If the newlyweds need very basic commodities, take a tip from a General Mills pantry survey which found that of the homes surveyed, 100 percent stock ketchup, then mustard, vegetable oil, cinnamon, dry spaghetti, seasoned salt, chili powder and soy sauce, in descending order, on their shelves.

On the other hand, some brides and grooms already have necessities for a household. This is an opportunity to give specialty items, like garden tools, special-purpose kitchen gadgets, holiday decorations and tickets for events the couple will enjoy after the honeymoon.

Easy glazed petit fours

- 1 pkg. (2 1/2-oz.) white cake mix
- 1 pkg. (12 oz.) regular or mini semisweet chocolate chips (see note)
- 1/2 cup shortening (no substitute)
- Cake decorating flowers, if desired

Grease and flour 15-by-11-inch jellyroll pan. Prepare cake batter as directed on package, using water, egg whites and oil. Spread in prepared pan. Bake 25 to 30 minutes at 350° until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool completely in pan. Do not cover. Allow cake surface to dry slightly.

Cut in diamond shapes or use cookie cutters to cut other shapes. Place cake pieces on wire rack. Place rack on top of tray covered with foil. Let cake pieces stand until sides are slightly dry.

In medium microwave-safe bowl, microwave chips and shortening 1 to 2 minutes on high power until chips are melted and mixture is smooth when stirred. Pour or spoon chocolate chip mixture over cake pieces, covering completely. Garnish with flowers.

Refrigerate until glaze is set. Remove with spatula to tray covered with waxed paper. Store, covered, in refrigerator until serving time. Note: White frosting is made by combining 1 package (10 ounces) white chocolate chips with 2 tablespoons shortening. This will make slightly less frosting.

Makes about 3 1/2 dozen (2-inch) cakes

Happily-ever-after compote

- 1/2 cup honey
- 2 tbsp. lemon juice
- 1 tsp. finely shredded orange peel
- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 4 oranges, peeled, seeded, sliced crosswise
- 2 cups watermelon balls
- 2 cups cantaloupe balls
- 2 bananas, sliced
- 2 cups sliced strawberries
- 2 cups sliced kiwifruit

Combine honey, lemon juice, orange peel and cinnamon. Drizzle over orange slices in bowl, preferably a clear bowl. Chill, covered, several hours or overnight. Chill fruits whole; do not peel and slice until layering fruit.

Drain oranges, reserving liquid. Slice fruit and layers on top of oranges in order given. Pour liquid over fruit. Refrigerate up to 2 hours before serving.

Makes about 12 servings.

Strawberries color and flavor to sumptuous fruit combo jams

Late spring and early summer provide one of the year's most beloved harvests—sweet, red-ripe strawberries. For home canners, it is a time to capture the freshness of these delicious berries in recipes that will become part of mealtime the rest of the year. Jams make strawberry season even better because they put a lid on it in the sweetest way.

Frozen Strawberry Peach Jam is perfect for busy homemakers who enjoy the convenience of freezer jams and jellies.

Frozen strawberry peach jam

- 2 cups crushed strawberries
- 1 cup chopped peaches
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 5 cups sugar
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 pkg. (1 1/2 oz.) powdered pectin

Prepare canning or freezer jars and lids according to manufacturer's directions.

Combine strawberries, peaches and lemon juice in large mixing bowl. Add sugar. Mix well. Let stand 10 minutes.

Combine water and pectin in small saucepan. Bring to boil. Boil 1 minute. Add pectin to fruit mixture. Stir 3 minutes.

Carefully ladle mixture into jars, leaving 1/2 inch head space. Adjust caps. Let stand at room temperature until set, up to 24 hours.

Store in freezer.

Yields about six (8 ounce) jars.

Spiced strawberry pineapple jam

- 2 cups crushed strawberries
- 2 cups crushed pineapple
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1 tsp. grated lemon peel
- 1 pkg. (1 1/2 oz.) powdered pectin
- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
- 8 cups sugar

Prepare home canning jars and lids according to manufacturer's directions.

Combine strawberries, pineapple, lemon juice and lemon peel in large saucepan. Stir in pectin.

Add cinnamon, nutmeg and sugar, stirring to dissolve. Bring mixture to rolling boil. Boil hard 2 minutes, stirring frequently. Remove from heat. Skim foam if necessary. Carefully ladle into hot jars, leaving 1/4 inch head space. Adjust caps. Process 10 minutes in boiling water bath canner.

Yields about four (12 ounce) jars.

Cardinal sauce

- 2 cups pitted dark sweet cherries
- 2 cups sliced strawberries
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup corn syrup
- 2 tbsp. grated lemon peel
- 2 sticks cinnamon
- 1/4 cup raspberry liqueur

Prepare home canning jars and lids according to directions.

Combine cherries, sugar, corn syrup, lemon peel and cinnamon in large saucepan. Bring mixture to boil. Reduce heat. Simmer gently 15 minutes.

Add strawberries. Continue cooking 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Discard cinnamon. Stir in raspberry liqueur.

Carefully ladle into hot jars, leaving 1/2 inch head space. Adjust caps. Process 10 minutes in boiling water bath canner.

Yields about 2 pints.

Capture — and tuck in the tastes of summer with delicious recipes that combine fresh fruits.

Recipe

Fanciful fan sandwiches

- 1/2 cup plain nonfat yogurt
- 1 tsp. garlic salt
- 2 tsp. prepared mustard
- 4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 1 cup (2 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese
- 6 French rolls

In medium bowl, stir together yogurt, garlic salt and mustard until thoroughly blended. Stir in eggs and cheese until well combined.

Cutting almost to bottom, cut 6 diagonal slits in each roll. Gently spread open slits. Spoon about 1 teaspoon egg mixture in each slit.

Place on baking sheet. Bake in preheated 350° oven about 10 minutes until cheese is melted and sandwiches are hot throughout.

Makes 6 servings; using 2-ounce roll, 260 calories, 33 g carbohydrate, 8 g fat (3 g of which is saturated), 154 mg cholesterol and 613 mg sodium each.

Food

Let the children play with their food, as long as it is jiggly gelatin made for finger-licking fun.

Liven up children's party with jigglers

Young children love parties filled with fun, games and favorite foods. Whether it is a birthday party, holiday celebration or simple play day, youngsters play with everything in sight — sometimes even their food.

One food that is meant to be played with and eaten is Jigglers ABCs made with flavored gelatin. These jiggly treats are easy to make and fun to use to decorate cakes, brownies and other favorite foods.

When planning a party, prepare a couple batches of Jigglers. Allow them to set, then cut out "Happy birthday" with a sharp knife or cookie cutters. Watch guests' faces light up when they receive a cake proclaiming the event in Jigglers. There will be no stopping the giggles once the cake is cut and everyone has a bright, wiggly Jiggler or two to play with and eat.

Another delightful way to add pizzazz to a party is to make placards spelling out the attendees' names. The whole placard can be eaten because it is made with a frosted cookie base.

Jigglers

4 pkg. (4 serving size each) or 2 pkg. (8 serving size each) gelatin, any flavor

2½ cups boiling water or boiling fruit juice

Completely dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Pour into 13-by-9-inch pan. Chill about 3 hours until firm.

To remove, dip pan in warm water about 15 seconds. Cut out letters with sharp knife or alphabet cookie cutters. Lift from pan. Makes about 24 pieces.

Jigglers' party cake

1 pkg. (2 layer) cake mix, any flavor
1 can (16 oz.) ready-to-spread vanilla frosting
1 pkg. (14 oz.) coconut
1 pkg. (4 serving) gelatin, any flavor
3 tbsp. water

Jigglers
Colored candy sprinkles
Prepare cake mix in 13-by-9-inch baking pan as directed on package. Cool.
Remove from pan. Frost with frosting. Mix coconut, gelatin and water. Press on top and sides of cake.

Using sharp knife or alphabet cutters, cut Jigglers into letter shapes. Decorate cake with letters and sprinkles.
Makes at least 12 servings.

Jigglers' party placards

Prepare Jigglers as directed in 13-by-9-inch pan. Cut into alphabet shapes.

Cut 1 package (20 ounces) refrigerated sugar cookies in 3 or 4 chunks. Press into lightly greased 15-by-11-inch baking pan. Bake at 350° for 15 to 18 minutes until golden brown. Cool.

Cut in twelve (5-by-2½-inch) rectangles. Spread tops with frozen whipped topping, thawed. Top with Jigglers ABCs to spell names.

New yogurts reflect changes in today's American lifestyle

Consumers face a choice between more than a dozen types of yogurt. Essentially, there are whole milk, low-fat and nonfat yogurts which come in plain or flavored versions.

Flavored yogurts vary in calorie count, depending on the type of sweetener and other added ingredients. Yogurt with fruit on the bottom is often referred to as sundae-style yogurt. Yogurt with flavor throughout is referred to as Swiss-style yogurt. Breakfast-style yogurt has fruit, nuts and/or grains distributed throughout and custard-style yogurt has a creamy, custard-like consistency.

Basically, plain unflavored yogurt is made by combining cream and milk with nonfat milk solids and certain strains of bacteria. This product is an excellent source of protein, calcium, riboflavin, phosphorus, magnesium and vitamin B12.

It is not required that yogurt contain live bacteria, but many do.

School

60 students initiated into National Honor Society at GCHS

The National Honor Society of Granite City High School recently held its annual initiation ceremony in the school cafeteria.

During the program, nine seniors and 51 juniors were initiated. The seniors initiated were Carrie Boyer, Adria Cran, F. Erik Lewis, Pam Mansfield, David Mills, Amie Parker, Brian Ogle, Carrie Owen, and Stacie Williams.

The juniors initiated were Jennifer Baker, Jennifer Basuel, Patricia Brinkoff, Carrie Brown, Russell Buchek, Tonya Burton, Terri Buster, Jo Ann Buxton, Jason Cass, Amy Choat, Larry Curry, Cori Elmore, Tally Evans, Christie Hayden, Jennifer Hitt, Angela Jacob, Andrew Jenkins, Derrick Kingsley, Anne Marie Leporek, Melissa Kosch, Sharon Kozjak, Christopher Krause, Sharon Mattern, Darla Mayhall, Melissa Melvov, Christopher McMillan, Scott McMillan, Winona Mefford, Kelly Miller, Dale Newberry, Daniel O'Neil, Mike O'Neil, Sally Petlow, Jack Petrollo, Jeff Restock, Kathleen Reader, Bob Ribbing, Erin Rotter, Jennifer Ruder, Christina Scattuto, Stephen Schaus, Randy Scott, Brian Seiz, Leglie Stavelly, Deana Whaley, Jennifer Wheeler, Shelly Ann Williams, Melissa Woehri, Jennifer Wortham, and Damon Yates.

To become a member of the National Honor Society, a student must meet certain requirements. A student must display the qualities of leadership, scholarship, character, and service by participating in school and community activities. A 4.35 grade point average must also be maintained.

The program was called to order by President Tim White. Principal David Painter, then gave the welcome.

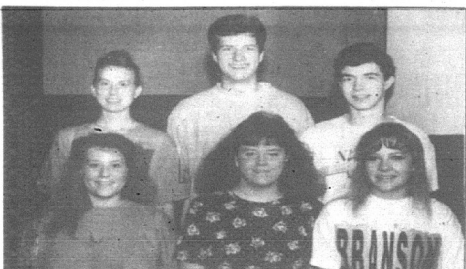

Participation was provided by the senior members of the National Honor Society. Shawn Patrick played a piano solo and Brian Henry gave a humorous interpretation. Initiates Christopher Kraus, Sharon Mattern, Kathleen Reader, and Melissa Woehrl sang a vocal ensemble, and the GCHS Jazz Band performed under the direction of Norbert Tate.

Robert Haack gave an original oration about the history and meaning of the National Honor Society. Introductory remarks were made by Mary Perdue-Tapp, NHS advisor. The 1990-1991 officers then gave interpretations of the principles of the National Honor Society. President Tim White spoke on leadership, Vice-President Kristi Holsinger spoke on scholarship. Secretary Susan Stegall spoke on character, and Treasurer Mark Chapman spoke on service. The

The initiates were presented with their certificates by Principal David Painter and NHS advisor, Andrew Yurko. Painter then welcomed the new members and addressed them on the importance of maintaining the principles of the organization. The ceremony concluded with a reception.

Center hosts appreciation luncheon

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer
VENICE — Venice-Lincoln Technical Center hosted an appreciation luncheon at Charlie Hester's 1st Season Restaurant for Friends of the Center on May 13.

Among the honored guests were State Rep. Sam Wolf; Wilbert Glasper, president of the Venice Board of Education; Madison County Regional Superintendent of Schools Harry Briggs; interim Venice Superintendent of Schools Robert Vickers; John Rush, incoming Venice superintendent of schools; and Peter Ponce, director of Venice-Lincoln Technical Center.

The intent of the luncheon is to thank those agencies and businesses that have provided various services and opportunities to Venice-Lincoln students throughout the year.

The technical center is located on South 4th Street in Venice and offers free vocational skills training, along with adult basic education and GED classes, to area residents.

Programs at VLTIC are financed with state and federal funds. Shirley Blasingame, information and referral coordinator at VLTIC, introduced the 83 guests and told of their involvement with the center.

Representatives from the following businesses, industries and social service agencies were present:

Illinois Power Company, the Fox Theatre, A.O. Smith Corp., ADID, St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Spectrulite Consortium, Prairie Farms, Terminal Railroad, Top 'N Bottoms, Bill Terrell Insurance, Granite City Police Department.

Webster University, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services, Job Training Partnership Act, Bureau of Employment Security, Madison County Project Chance, St. Clair County Project Chance, Belleville Women's Crisis Center.

Coordinated Youth Services, Educational Opportunity Center, Programs and Services for Older Persons, Madison County Mental Health Services, U.S. Armed Services and the St. Clair County Housing Authority.

Maryville College awards degrees

Maryville College at St. Louis awarded 701 degrees, including three to Granite City residents, this May during Maryville's 118th commencement ceremony.

Graduates from the Granite City area were Handy K. Chost, bachelor of science degree in information systems; Kathleen

M. Faulkner, bachelor of science degree in nursing; and Michael R. Hanks, master of business administration degree in management.

Maryville College at Saint Louis is in Maryville Centre, along U.S. Highway 40 and Woods Mill Road in West St. Louis County.

Briefly

Student inducted into society

RICHMOND, Ky. — A student from Granite City has been inducted into The Golden Key National Honor Society's chapter at Eastern Kentucky University.

Honored this semester was Elizabeth Ann Earney of Cardinal Avenue, Granite City, a junior.

Membership in Golden Key is by invitation only and is limited to the top 15 percent of the juniors and seniors enrolled at a given college or university.

Part-time as well as full-time students qualify, and membership is open to traditional and non-traditional students.

The Golden Key National Honor Society was founded at Georgia State University on Nov. 29, 1977, by a group of outstanding undergraduate students.

Student performs in play

Kelly Kessler, of Granite City recently performed in the University of Evansville's production of "The Good Woman of Setzuan," by Bertolt Brecht.

Kessler played the character of the old woman. She is the daughter of Monte Sr. and Donn Kessler.

This was the final production of the University's theatre season depicting a parable of evil coexisting in the world with good.

German playwright Brecht used an old theatre friend — the prostitute with a golden heart — to bring to life the story of one woman's struggle to remain good in a world which rewards wrongful acts.

The half-Westernized Chinese city in which the good woman strives for a better life was designed by guest theatrical designer Danila Korogodsky, from the Soviet Union.

The University of Evansville is an independent, United Methodist Church-related liberal arts and science institution located in southern Indiana.

Student on honor roll

A local student at Oklahoma Christian is among the 220 students named to the honor roll for the spring 1991 trimester.

The honor roll consists of students who have earned a grade point average between 3.40 and 3.84.

Gregory Scott Senter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Senter of Granite City, majoring in electrical engineering/electronic BS, was named to the honor roll.

Oklahoma Christian is a private liberal arts university.

Student achieves straight A's

Suzanne Levy of Granite City completed the spring 1991 semester at Maryville College - Saint Louis with a straight-A average.

Maryville College - Saint Louis, is an independent, coeducational college with an enrollment of 3,628 students. Maryville College offers liberal arts and professional programs in more than 40 fields of study.

Local student is inducted

FULTON, MO. — Westminster College junior Jon K. Lostutter of Granite City is a newly initiated member of Epsilon Beta Alpha, the national honorary business fraternity.

He is among 20 Westminster students who qualified for membership in the fraternity this spring.

To be eligible for membership in Epsilon Beta Alpha, a student must complete 12 hours of courses in accounting, economics and mathematics with a 3.0 grade point average or higher. The student must also rank in the top 50 percent of his or her college class.

Jon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Lostutter of Granite City. He is a 1988 graduate of Granite City High School. An accounting and business major, he is attending Westminster on a President's Academic Scholarship. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity and is serving as treasurer of the Student Government Association for 1991-92.

Professor receives top honor

Dr. James A. Spudich, formerly of Granite City and Collinsville and a professor of cell biology, was one of 80 members recently elected to membership in the National Academy of Sciences in Washington.

Spudich, 49, is an international authority on the molecular basis of cell movement (motility), including muscle contraction.

He studies common motor muscle proteins such as actin and myosin, found in most cells in higher organisms. Clinical techniques in the field may in the near future help shore up weaknesses in critical organisms by introducing strengthening mutations into the motor molecules.

A native of Collinsville, Spudich received his Ph.D. in biochemistry from Stanford in 1968. He joined the faculty as a full professor in 1977 after serving seven years at the University of California at San Francisco.

In December 1987, he was appointed the Douglass M. and Nola Leishman Professor of Cardiovascular Disease, an endowed professorship that recognizes the potential importance of cell movement studies in the conquest of cardiovascular disease.

Spudich served a term chairmanship, 1979 to 1984 in his Department of Cell Biology.

Spudich is son of Anthony and Martha Spudich of Bend. The family lived for 30 years in Granite City.

Beginning Thursday, May 30, thousands of fantastic items, ranging from appliances to vacations, will be sold. The auction will continue through Sunday evening, June 2. Bidding has never been easier. Simply watch Channel 9 with a telephone and notepad handy.

AUCTION PHONES:

To Bid: 726-4000
For Information: 726-9680
Special Board: 725-9304
Hearing-Impaired: 726-7681

Call the Auction phone number and give your name, phone number, the item number you are bidding on and your best bid. If you are the successful high bidder you will receive a confirmation phone call, usually within the hour, from an Auction volunteer.

After you have been confirmed as the high bidder, pick up your merchandise or certificate at the Channel 9 Warehouse, 6996 Millbrook Blvd. If you charge your certificate with your Visa or Mastercard, we will mail your certificate for a nominal fee.

This catalog contains a sampling of the many great items (approximately $200 and up) available during this year's event.

Mothers' Day contest

Two young people won $25 gift certificates for Mother's Day dinners in a contest sponsored by Leroy's Market, 4089 Pontoon Road.

Participants were asked to write why they believed their mother is special.

Winners in the contest were Jay Gensert, a third-grade pupil at St. Elizabeth School, whose mother is Mary Ann Gensert; and Krislyn Niggli, a sixth-grade student at St. Elizabeth School, whose mother is Evelyn Niggli.

Jay Gensert wrote:

Moms are special. My mom is the best. She's proud of me when I play a good soccer game. My mom doesn't pay me. But she compliments me. I'm punished a lot. But it's all to make me learn. My mom plays with me a lot. My mom doesn't let me watch bad movies. My mom is the best. I'm adopted. My mom liked me so much she picked me. I don't know, but I think my other mom is just the same. I love both of them.

Krislyn Niggli wrote:

What Makes My Mom Special
What makes my mom special is that she is always there and is my mom not someone else's. She does a lot of cooking, cleaning and running Scott and me to games or practices. She also teaches us the importance of education and love, sharing and family. Our future goals depend on her by how she helps us with our homework and the support she gives. She supports me on my future goals in my life. My mom tries very hard to do things for us like when she tells us we can't do something we really want to do, she tries to make up for it. She often worries about us, and tries to help even when we don't want her to. My mom is special to me for many reasons and this explains it all.

School election timetable

The following timetable has been announced for persons interested in seeking school board seats in their respective districts.

Tuesday, May 28 — First day that prospective school board candidates may circulate nominating petitions for signatures for the Nov. 5 election.

Monday, Aug. 19 — First day for filing Statement of Candidacy and nominating petitions with the school board secretary.

Monday, Aug. 26 — Last day for filing Statement of Candidacy and nominating petitions with the school board secretary.

Also, for candidates who did not file a receipt for Statement of Economic Interests with their nominating papers, Aug. 26 is the final day to do so.

Thursday, Sept. 26 — Last day for organizations to register as poll watchers with the Election Authority.

Tuesday, Oct. 22 — Last day for the Election Authority to have poll watchers' credentials available for distribution.

Friday, Nov. 1 — Last day for the Election Authority to have ballots printed and available for inspection by candidates and their agents.

Write-in votes are counted only for a person who has filed a declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate.

A notarized declaration of intent must be filed with each Election Authority involved no later than 5 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 1.

If, however, any candidate whose name appears on the ballot dies after that time, a declaration of intent to run as a write-in candidate may be filed until noon on Monday, Nov. 4, the day before the election.

Forms for filing a declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate are available from the Election Authority.

Within five days after the Board of Education proclaims winners, a successful write-in candidate must file with the board secretary a statement of candidacy and a county clerk's receipt for the statement of economic interests.

Vance awarded scholarship

Michael R. Vance of Granite City has been awarded a scholarship to attend the nursing program at Fontbonne College/Deaconess Hospital in St. Louis.

Vance, a senior at Granite City High School, hopes to become an emergency room nurse or an anesthesiologist.

At GCHS, Vance was a member of the track team and the foreign policy club. He has twice been named "Who's Who among High School Students" and was a 1991 Illinois State Scholar. He is ranked in the top 15 percent of the 1991 graduating class.

Vance is the son of Thomas and Jeri Willcutt of Granite City and Richard Vance of St. Louis.

Michael Vance ... wins scholarship

He is the grandson of Alvin and Jean Edwards, Elsie Vance and Frieda White, all of Granite City.

39 attend Johnson family reunion

The children of Mrs. Bessie Johnson and the late Bryan Johnson spent the weekend of April 6 at Pere Marquette State Park. They arrived at 3 p.m. Saturday. They spent the evening visiting with Mrs. Jackson.

At seven o'clock they assembled in the lodge dining room for supper. Thirty-nine were present. A corsage was presented to Mrs. Johnson and for dessert a cake was decorated in her honor. After supper the children enjoyed swimming and games and the adults viewed home movies.

Sunday morning after breakfast the group gathered on the lodge campground for a picnic lunch. Games and horseback riding concluded the day.

Those in attendance were Mrs. Bessie Johnson of Jackson, Mo.; Dr. and Mrs. Charles Emory Johnson and Sara and Christopher of Reno, Nev.; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Johnson and Brittany, Emily, and Eric Emory of Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ernest of Maine; Mrs. Virgie Reynolds of Cape Girardeau, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy (Marilyn) Danan, Adam and Alex of Chaffee, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. W.B. (Virginia) McCulloch (Virginia) Whitewater, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Mike (Linda) Bartlow, Bryan and Brett of Florissant, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Dale (Susan) Gyrovany and Sara of Bridgeton, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. John (Norma) Stroder of Granite City; Miss Faye Stroder, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond (Nancy) Cloniger, Jeremy and Melissa of Granite City; Mr. and Mrs. Roger (Judy) Stroder, Christopher, Amy, Travis and Robbie of Granite City.

Thirty-nine attended the dinner at the lodge dining room, nine grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren. Larua Smith (Stroder) and John Paul of Richmond, Va., were unable to attend.

3 attend campout

Bradley Arnold, Jeremy Belusko, and Kyle McGuire, Webelos from Cub Pack 17 at Lake School, attended the first Webelos Transition Weekend campout held at Camp Warren Lewis in Godfrey.

On Saturday, May 4, the boys attended classes all day while the parents in attendance were briefed on the Boy Scout ranks.

Vacation Bible School planned

The Eagle Stone Worship Center in Madison will hold Vacation Bible School from June 24 to June 28.

The theme this year will be "Sonward Ho! Sharing the Adventure of Life with Jesus." Stories and principles from the book of Acts will be taught and children will be invited to join in the adventure of living in God's family. Each day activities will include Bible study, games, crafts, recreation and songs all centered on the theme.

The school, held at the Worship Center, 1348 Iowa St., is open to all children ages 2 through 12. For more information or to register, call 452-2020.

Sex education class for parents

As a parent, you understand — it's not easy to educate your children about sex and sexuality. That's why St. Elizabeth Medical Center is offering The Caring Parents' Guide: Sexuality Education at Home. The class is being offered to teach parents how to talk to their children about sexuality.

The Caring Parents Guide: Sexuality Education at Home will be offered on two consecutive Tuesdays, June 4 and 11, from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., in the President's Room in Bonaventure's Cafeteria on the ground floor of the medical center.

Parents are encouraged to attend both sessions because different topics will be covered each evening.

The class is limited to 20 people, and pre-registration is required. Cost is $10 per person or more information or to register, call 798-3040.

Party held

Laura Hildebrand was recently honored on her fifth birthday at a party hosted by her mother, Patty Hildebrand.

The party had a "Barbie" theme. Games were played and prizes awarded. Present were Laura's brothers Joshua Patrick and Jordan Michael Hildebrand, as well as Bryan Van Frost, Brittany Ryan, Julie Lange, Michael Hare, Jake Taylor, Joey and Chad Patrick, Bonnie and Jeff Ligonson and Dr. Dino Recchia.

Okay, it's true!

There are some things you won't find at Belleville Area College, namely:

1. A rousing fight song
2. Wild frat house parties
3. A big tuition bill

But here are some things you will find:

1. Small classes with personalized instruction
2. Faculty members with a wealth of "real world" experience
3. More than 80 academic specialties to prepare you for baccalaureate studies or a well-paying job
4. A tuition bill of just $960 a year for full-time students, only $30 per credit hour.
5. Scholarships for qualified applicants, to offset our already low cost.
6. Three campuses and 21 learning centers throughout the district so you can study close to home.
7. A wide variety of courses offered day and night to fit your busy schedule.
8. Child-sitting at Belleville and Granite City.

Registration is now under way for summer classes beginning June 3.

Stegemeier honored by Revolutionary War group

Wood River resident George Stegemeier was honored as "Man of the Year" by the Illinois Society, Sons of the American Revolution, at the organization's annual meeting in Jacksonville.

Stegemeier is a direct descendant of Jacob Judy, a Revolutionary War soldier, who was one of the first settlers in this area shortly after the American Revolution.

The meeting was a gala event for George since many members of his family traveled long distances to be present. Stegemeier's family was represented by son, Richard Stegemeier, Anaheim, Calif. son, George Stegemeier Jr., Houston, Texas, son, Robert Stegemeier and wife Betty, Granite City, sister, Mildred Branding, Granite City, and grandson, Thomas Stegemeier, Granite City.

George Stegemeier is a member of the Gen'l George Rogers Clark Chapter which is based in Madison County. Membership in the Sons of the American Revolution is open to any man who is 18 years of age or older and who is descended from any man or woman who aided American independence during the American Revolution. Information is available by calling Lloyd Schwarz, local president, at 636-1400.

Garden clubs hold workshop

The District V Garden Clubs met May 16 at Cahokia Park United Methodist Church in Cahokia for their annual workshop. The Cahokia Garden Club was the host club and its president, Mary Ellen Lindsey, gave the welcoming address.

The response was given by Trish Haislar, the immediate past director. The business meeting was conducted by District Director Bea Halford of the Edwardsville Garden Club.

Awards received at the annual convention of the Garden Clubs of Illinois, Inc., of April 16 were presented by Halford and Lindsey.

The awards included a gold ribbon to each of the five clubs who sponsored a flower show last fall to pay tribute to the St. Clair County Bicentennial: Cahokia, Fairview Heights, Mascoutah, St. Clair County and Shiloh Valley.

The clubs also received green ribbons to indicate the show was sent to the National Council of State Garden Clubs Inc. for competition, and blue and white ribbons as the national award. Each club received a cash award for best schedule from the Judges Council.

The Cahokia Garden Club received a purple ribbon for a project of exceptional merit, a light blue ribbon for a civic concern project, a certificate for its program commemorating Earth Day, a maroon ribbon, the Illinois historic preservation award and a green ribbon indicating the club went to the national council.

The Mascoutah Garden Club received a light blue ribbon for a civic concern project and a red ribbon for best yearbook in the district.

Mrs. Kenneth Brokaw of the Grovesview Garden Club in Granite City received the Mabel Fitzsimmons Home Garden cash award.

Club achievement awards included: Gold rosette for 250 points to St. Clair County, purple rosette for 150 points to Cahokia, Cloverview, Collinsville, Fairview Heights, Garden Study, Holiday Shores, Lakeview and Mascoutah; blue rosette for 100 points to Shiloh Valley and Trenton Tumbleweeds.

Modern and natural history mix in spring visit to Chattanooga

By Randy Mink
Correspondent

Chattanooga. Warm weather, Southern hospitality and reminders of the old Confederacy greet springtime visitors to this historic city on the Georgia border.

Chattanooga. The Creek Indian war rolls melodiously off the tongue and immediately brings to mind the verse, "Fondle me, fondle me, that the Chattanooga Choo Choo?" from the catchy song popularized in the 1940s by crooner Miller's band.

Today, Chattanooga Choo Choo is the name of a restored railroad terminal that functions as a dining, shopping, lodging complex. But the nostalgia-laced Choo Choo is only one of many visitor attractions in this scenic area at the southern end of the Appalachian range. From Civil War shrines to places that exploit nature's handwork, there's plenty to see and do.

Almost every point of interest lies within 15 minutes of Chattanooga. Highway billboards, signs and arrows loom so big and bold so frequently that it's almost impossible for the motorist to get lost.

Despite the commercialism, Chattanooga can take pride in a fine cluster lineup of time-tested, highly-visited family attractions, some of them more than 40 years old. Many sights are open all year and share some of the tourist trade driving to and from Florida. Summer brings the biggest crowds and the stickiest weather. But lucky is the traveler who visits in May, when the temperatures are ideal and the crush of fellow vacationers is not yet a problem.

In May, June at higher elevations, the mountain laurel produces clusters of white, pink and purple flowers, while the rhododendron yield rose-purple blossoms. Azaleas in shades of pink and raspberry accent public and private gardens.

Lookout Mountain, towering over the city skyline, offers a bundle of tourist magnets. A good place to begin is Point Park, which combines Civil War nostalgia with panoramic views of Chattanooga and the Meigs Bend of the Tennessee River.

During the Union Army's siege of Chattanooga, brutal combat ensued in the famous "Battle Above the Clouds." The mountain's hazy mist prevented Confederate gunners from seeing to support the comrades on the slopes below.

The peaceful, tree-shaded paths of Point Park wind past monuments, markers and cannons. National Park Service rangers conduct free tours, and there is a small museum. Railroad from the park lead down to Cravens House, which served as a headquarters for the Confederates for both sides. Hoop-skirted "Southern belles" give tours of the restored home.

The Inland Railway has been taking tourists up Lookout Mountain since 1895. Built with stepped seating and windows in the roof, the modern red cars deposit passengers two blocks from Point Park.

For Southern cuisine, certainly Lookout Mountain's most advertised attraction, has been drawing tourists since its mazes of steaks and home-style vegetables was opened to the public in 1932.

Another recently renovated hotel is the Comfort Hotel River Center. It's located within walking distance of the riverfront and the Tennessee Aquarium which will open in May 1992.

The Chattanooga Marriott, at 42 Center Plaza, is adjacent to the trade center.

Where to eat? For Southern cuisine, try the Mt. Vernon Restaurant at the foot of Lookout Mountain. Diners can feast on fresh seafood, steaks and home-style vegetables that are cooked fresh daily.

What is Rock City? It's a giant rock garden with landscaped pathways and storybook whimsy. But the sculpted boulders and cliffs are natural, the vistas spectacular.

The geological phenomenon has been known as "Rock City" since the early 1800s. Man-made stone bridges and a swinging wooden bridge span some of the gaping crevices, while flagstone trails thread such passages as Fat Man's Squeeze and Needle's Eye.

Inside the mountain, in limestone caverns right under Point Park, a guided walk down a drippy path leads to Ruby Falls, the world's deepest indoor waterfall (1,120 feet below the earth's surface). In total, darkness amidst the moist spray of thundering water, a flick of a switch illuminates the 145-foot-high cascade as it crashes from the ceiling into a pool.

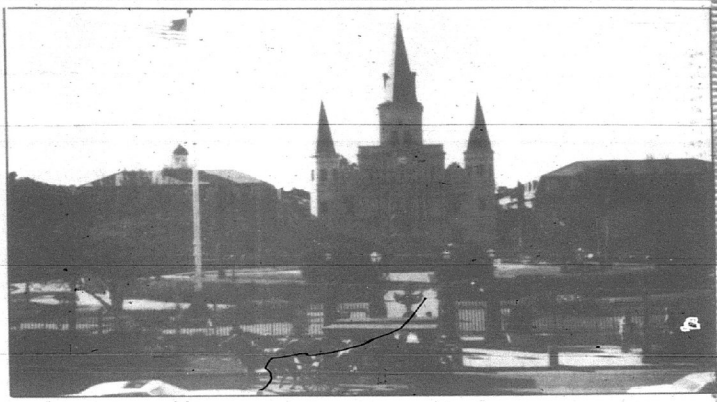

In downtown Chattanooga, the tourist focal point is the Chattanooga Choo Choo, which occupies the old Southern Railroad yards of Terminal Station, a National Historic Landmark. For a taste of the golden age of railroading, visitors come here to eat, have a drink, shop, stay overnight and admire the formal gardens.

There really was a Chattanooga Choo Choo. Operated by the Cincinnati-Southern Railroad beginning in 1880, it provided the first passenger service from north to south. A newspaper reported that the small wheel burner the "Chattanooga Choo Choo" because the Tennessee city was a key stop. But the name became a household word only after composer Harry Warren and lyricist Mack Gordon sang the "Chattanooga Choo Choo" in the 1941 movie "Sun Valley Serenade."

For a good overview of the sprawling complex, make a loop aboard the yellow electric trolley, which in the 1920s rattled along the tracks. Other pieces of railroad memorabilia include an 1880 Baldwin steam locomotive that visitors can explore, a video-arcade car, the Wabash Cannonball club car and the nation's largest HO gauge model railroad.

For tourist information, contact the Chattanooga Area Convention and Visitors Bureau, 1001 Market St., Chattanooga, Tenn. 37402. Call 1-800-322-3344.

JACKSON SQUARE, the focal point of the French Quarter in New Orleans, is a common gathering place. A carriage tour rolls past the statue of Andrew Jackson astride his horse. In the background are the graceful spires of St. Louis Cathedral.

Sights and sounds of New Orleans: A world unto itself

By Tom and Joanne O'Toole
Correspondents

The sights, sounds and scents of New Orleans are like none other in the world. Of St. Louis Cathedral to the wall of Dixie-land jazz and the aroma of Creole cuisine, this city on the banks of the mighty Mississippi is a traveler's delight. It's an enticing gumbo of Spanish moss, iron grillwork, singing banjos and churning paddle wheels.

Many visitors never look beyond the French Quarter, or Vieux Carre as the locals call it. It's the original walled city laid out more than 250 years ago. No longer walled nor cut off from the rest of the city by canals, it is still considered the nerve center, setting the tone for all that surrounds it. The focal point is Jackson Square, a pocket of greenery once known as Place d'Armes. Surrounding streets provide a stage for artists, street entertainers, mimes, musicians and a wide assortment of wonderful characters.

Nearby is Cafe du Monde, where you can enjoy the traditional melt-in-your-mouth doughnuts called beignets ("ben-yays") and watch the city wake up as you read the morning paper. The coffee, blended with chicory, is hot and potent.

There is history everywhere in the quarter, and walking maps will help you find such exotic places as Pirates' Alley and the Jackson Brewery along with sumptuous restaurants like Brennan's and Antoine's. However, you'll quickly become mesmerized with endless shops, offering everything from brass paperweights to voodoo dust.

Creole cuisine originated here, combining French, Spanish, African and American Indian influences. With a vast array of gourmet restaurants, the city is an acknowledged paradise. Feasts of crab and crawfish abound. Crab Remoulade is a local delicacy of crab, vegetables and a tangy sauce. Red beans and rice, once thought a poor man's dish, has been given new respect by some of the best restaurants. It's a spicy dish, not to the faint of heart.

The Joe Cahn New Orleans School of Cooking, housed in the Jackson Brewery on the fringe of the quarter offers visitors a chance to learn firsthand about Creole cuisine. It's a laugh-filled, worthwhile session of demonstrations for guests who then consume the "samplers." The classes last about two and a half hours, and are held in the back of Joe's general store, which itself is colorful. For information and reservations call (504) 325-2961.

But there's a lot more to New Orleans than the French Quarter. The Garden District, a short ride up the St. Charles avenue streetcar, is a gorgeous neighborhood of homes dating back to the grand days of the Confederacy. Professional tours and self-driving maps are options for air in-depth look.

New Orleans is also the home port for the richly restored Delta Queen (a National Historic Landmark) and the Mark Twain (a Mississippi Queen). The paddle wheelers ply the Mississippi following the course of earlier riverboats. The Joe Whittington sound of their calliopes is like a magnet, drawing crowds as they churn by.

New Orleans is truly an American city, a place where people of varied ancestries come together to create a vibrant way of life. For the visitor, it's a chance to experience the good things in life.

Some information for this story was contributed by staff writer Barbara Wilson.

If you go...

For an average family driving the speed limit, New Orleans is about a two-day drive from the St. Louis area. Take Interstate 55 and head south on your hat floater. Or not quite. At Interstate 10 go east and follow the signs into the city.

Tourists beware: Due to the bend in the Mississippi, directions can be confusing. For example, the West Bank of New Orleans is actually due south of the main city and to get there you have to take the bridge. The city is so clearly marked so you'll have to watch carefully. Don't be afraid to ask for directions.

If you prefer to fly: the least-expensive rate as of May 21 is $130 round trip with a 21-day advance purchase, according to Ruth Miller of Travel Agents International in Belle River, La.

For a wealth of information on the city of New Orleans and self-guided walking/driving maps, contact the Greater New Orleans Tourist Commission, 4520 Sugar Bowl Drive, New Orleans, La. 70112, or call (504) 566-5011.

If you're interested in plying the Mississippi aboard a paddle wheel boat, you can get literature from the Delta Queen Steamboat Company, 7010 St. Robert Street, New Orleans, La. 70130, or call them toll-free at 1-800-543-1949.

Village salutes black history

At Colonial Williamsburg, the veil of time lifts and visitors see the black history of the city. They also are introduced to the residents of Virginia's 18th century capital.

That includes more than a gentry that fancied powdered wigs, craftsmen, shopkeepers and other members of the free population. The black history program at the museum village pays tribute to the anonymous blacks who toiled as slaves—the people who cooked the food, planted the gardens, groomed the horses and shaved their masters.

Colonial Williamsburg, which encompasses 173 acres in the historic area of Williamsburg, is widely recognized as the only living history museum that interprets 18th-century black history in any comprehensive fashion. Special tours and programs show how a new Anglo-African culture was forged, shedding light on blacks' private lives and their dealings with the white world.

Blacks made up half the population of 18th century Williamsburg but their contributions generally went unrecognized until 1979, when the museum brought attention to them by launching its black history program. And until the 1960s, when social turmoil and the civil rights movement altered traditional ways of thinking, the study of history focused on the white population.

Washington and Thomas Jefferson and their privileged lifestyle, said Rex Ellis, assistant director for the black history program at the museum village.

"You could find out about 18th-century high-back chairs, but you couldn't find out anything about blacks, Indians or women," Ellis said.

The illumination of black history is hindered by lack of physical evidence and written documentation. Much has been passed on orally.

Colonial Williamsburg relies on this oral tradition through its tour guides, character interpreters and African-American music and drama programs. Though opening and closing dates for the different offerings vary, no matter what time of year you visit Colonial Williamsburg you will find some black history interpretation programs. They are at their height in August, however.

The two-hour "Other Half" walking tour runs from mid-March through October. Our "Other Half" guide was Sandra Johnson, a black woman who talked about the slaves' passage from Africa and life in Williamsburg as our small group followed her across the historical area.

Blacks in Williamsburg were treated better than those who worked on plantations in the countryside, we learned. The life in Williamsburg and the site of William and Mary College, the town was quite unlike the life in Williamsburg. Urban blacks were closer to their masters; some learned skilled trades.

Most whites, though, had no slaves, a fact that surprised tour members. Many colonists owned just one or two slaves.

Laws that institutionalized slavery were not passed until the late 1700s. Thus, for many years there were no laws against blacks learning to read. Williamsburg actually had a school for black children.

Our guide discussed the importance of religion, folk tales and music in the lives of black residents. We played some rhythmic instruments at the end of the tour.

Quality, sun, drainage are keys to growing roses

By Barry Dillon

Many people think that roses are very difficult to grow. Old wives' tales to the contrary, this is not true. With a little knowledge and patience you can successfully grow roses. Here are a few tips to get you going.

All roses are graded before being sold. Buy only Grade 1 roses, the best quality. Plants in this class will have three or four heavy canes, one-half-inch in diameter. They are stronger plants and will give you much better flower production and winter hardiness than the lower grades. If you are unsure about how good a rose might be, purchase roses that are accredited by the American Rose Society (ARS). These are typically marked with a metal tag bearing the ARS name.

When choosing a planting site, recognize that roses need a good six hours of sun. If roses don't receive enough sunlight the flowers will be inferior and the plants will be weak. Locate a rose bed away from trees and shrubs. Roses will do poorly if they have to compete with the other plants for nutrients and moisture.

Good drainage also is essential—if your subsoil is poor, consider making a raised bed 1 to 3 feet above the surface. A good soil mix would be three parts loose loamy soil, three parts peat moss or, preferably, manure or compost and one part sand. Add 4 pounds superphosphate per 100 square feet of area. Now you are ready to plant.

The best time to plant roses in St. Louis is in the spring, before the weather gets too hot. Bare-root roses should have been planted in April, but there still is time for container roses. To plant container roses, dig a hole inches wider and 6 inches deeper than the container it came in. Place 6 inches of soil into the hole and position the root ball so that the graft union is 2 to 3 inches below the soil surface. This placement protects the tender union against freezing damage. Fill with soil, tamp down and water thoroughly.

Roses need a constant supply of moisture, at least 1 to 2 inches a week. Try to water at the base of the plant and water early in the morning if possible.

Keep the foliage dry when watering. Wet foliage makes the rose susceptible to fungal diseases. One or two deep waterings a week is preferable to many lighter waterings.

Fertilize roses every four to six weeks after new plant growth appears. I recommend a balanced fertilizer like 12-12-12 or 5-10-5 at one-half cup per plant. Lightly cultivate the fertilizer into the soil and water. Stop fertilizing altogether by Aug. 15. This will give the plant time to "harden off" before winter.

Good cultural practices will keep pests and diseases to a minimum. Remove all diseased foliage and canes as soon as they are noticed. The main pest problems in our area are aphids (especially early in the season) and spider mites (during the hot summer months). The main disease problems are black spot and powdery mildew. Establish a spray schedule and check your roses regularly for early signs of trouble. For information about special problems and products, consult your local nursery or call The Garden's Answer Service, 577-5143.

As the roses flower, don't forget to remove old blooms, pruning back to the first leaf with five leaflets. As you do this, check for dead or weak wood and prune it out.

Beautiful roses take time and maintenance, but it is well worth the effort. If you follow good cultural practices and a regular maintenance schedule, roses can be quite easy to grow.

Home aquarium brings natural world indoors

A great way to add to the enjoyment of indoor living is by adding a touch of outdoors. And a home aquarium is the perfect way to bring live outdoor enjoyment and added decor to any indoor living area.

There are many positives to owning a home aquarium. First, it is always a "conversation piece" because of its attractiveness and the beauty of the fish and decorative accessories such as plants and ornaments.

Second, it is a family hobby, great for educating youngsters both in maintaining "life" and in assuming responsibility.

A recent study by researchers at the University of Pennsylvania proved that watching fish in an aquarium is a definite benefit in relieving stress.

How do you get started? First, you will want to locate a good dealer in your area. If you have a friend who has an aquarium, ask for a reference, otherwise the telephone book lists most tropical fish retailers.

During your visit to a tropical fish store, you will want to get some ideas on aquarium sizes and on the equipment you will need, and look over the selection fish so that you can choose the ones you want.

It is advisable to purchase a book that provides complete instructions on setting up and maintaining an aquarium. However, one important rule is to buy the largest aquarium practical since the greater the water environment, the less chance of water problems.

When determining where to put your aquarium, several factors should be considered. You will not want to put it in direct sunlight since this will cause algae to grow on the glass and plastic accessories.

You also may not want to put it over your carpeting since during water changes water may splash on the floor. You also should be sure to place your aquarium on a firm stand since water is heavy.

After you have decided on the aquarium, your first accessory will be a tightly-fitting canopy cover equipped with a fluorescent fixture. Fluorescent fixtures throw off a cool light and will not cause fluctuations in the water temperature.

Regarding temperature, tropical fish require an environment maintained at 75°F (25°C). You therefore will need a good heater and an aquarium thermometer.

A recent development in this technology is the liquid crystal digital thermometer which affixes to the outside of the aquarium yet accurately measures the water temperature.

You will also need a quality filter. Your dealer can give you proper advice since there are several types of filters and your needs will vary with the size of your aquarium.

If you are going to keep a lot of fish, you will also want a separate air pump to add oxygen to the water.

Underwater decorating

Decorating an aquarium is great fun. There are multi-colored gravels, highly decorative backgrounds and hundreds of ornaments, as well as plastic plants so real in reproduction it's almost impossible to distinguish them from live plants. Most good retailers will have a complete assortment and your selection should be based on the size of your aquarium and the amount of money you decide to spend.

Once you have set up your aquarium, you should add a chlorine neutralizer to the water and add only a few fish initially. These few fish will help develop the proper biological conditions necessary to maintain a fully-stocked aquarium. After three to four weeks, assuming everything is functioning properly, you can then go ahead and add the rest of the fish.

Aquarium maintenance is not difficult. All that is required is a partial water change every two weeks. The change should not include more than 20 percent of the water. To do this, use a siphoning device to suck water from the bottom of the tank. A device called the Hydro-clean allows an efficient siphoning by separating the debris in the gravel and removing it with the water from the aquarium. Also on a monthly basis, your filter will require minimal maintenance.

Following this simple routine, chances of fish disease or any other aquarium problems are remote.

On a daily basis, of course, fish should be fed and a good quality flake food will provide a complete diet for almost all fish.

Tropical fish are beautiful; they are easy to maintain and provide a lifetime hobby. For more information write Tetra Sales, 201 Tabor Road, Morris Plains, N.J. 07950 for a free, full-color starter booklet including color illustrations and complete information on 30 popular tropical fish.

Renting beats high tool cost

The high cost of tools can saw right through a do-it-yourselfer's savings. Many home improvement projects call for costly equipment to do the job right. The solution: rent, rather than buy, those expensive tools you only use once or twice.

A well-stocked rental shop can supply anything from simple electric tools, floor Sanders, waxers, wheel barrows and ladders to professional paint sprayers, pneumatic drills, welding torches and backhoes.

In many cases these are the same tools that professional contractors use. said Michael Kupperman, president of Acme Tool and Equipment Rental in Brooklyn. And for the knowledgeable do-it-yourselfer, the savings can be substantial, he noted.

If you're having plumbing problems, for instance, rent a plumbing snake to clear interior and main drains ($5 to $30 a day, depending on size) and save the $75 to $150 plumbing fee. If the exterior of your home needs painting, rent a heavy-duty paint sprayer for $80 a day and save the several thousand dollars a painter would charge.

It pays to rent small tools for specialized jobs, too. A carpet kicker, for example, a simple device that stretches carpet to eliminate gaps, costs $100 to buy, but $6 to rent.

To get the most from your rental tools, Kupperman offered the following advice:

Be honest about your capabilities and don't attempt anything too complex for your level of skill.
